Palm pleads guilty, faces up to five years in jail

by GLORIA DAVIS

Tim Palm, 23, Antioch, pled guilty to a charge of operating a watercraft while intoxicated in the court of Lake County Judge William Block on Monday.

According to Asst. States' Atty. Randy Stewart, who prosecuted the case in connection with the death of Craig, Campbell, 40, on Lake Marie, when Palm's boat smashed into Campbell's on Aug. 5, this was the most serious charge against Palm and the guilty plea could get him up to five years in prison.

Stewart said that there was no plea bargaining.

According to States Atty. Fred Foreman, "We decided to go with the most serious charge that we felt we could prove. We went along with what Mrs. Campbell wanted. She agreed to accept Palm's guilty plea to the driving a boat while intoxicated charge."

Foreman added that the other charges against Palm could be taken into consideration by the judge at the time of sentencing.

Palm was also charged with reckless homicide and possession of cocaine. While he was out on bond his bond was increased and he was banned from driving an automobile except when going to work or to court after he was arrested in Wisconsin and charged with driving 90 miles per hour.

If Palm receives the maximum sentence of five years in prison, he would serve at least two-and-one-half years of it.

Stewart added that there is a possibility he might "tone down" his sentence request after he completes the pre-sentence investigation.

Foreman also said that Palm's guilty plea would carry a lot of weight for the plaintiff if any civil proceedings against him are forthcoming.

New church mushrooms on Rte. 173, Deep Lake Rd.

A church building has mushroomed into being one-eighth mile north of Hwy. 173 on Deep Lake Rd. in the last two months.

On April, 1984, the Christian Life Fellowship Church, under the leadership of Rev. Jeffrey Brussaly, was started at 389 Lake St. in the building formerly occupied by the Red Carpet Realty.

It quickly outgrew its space and spread into the adjacent building; this, too, soon became crowded and with parking increasingly difficult, the congregation began to consider a larger facility.

In March, 1986 the infant church inherited the property of Elsie and Jerry Wisniewski. As soon as the estate was probated, the church began searching for a building site.

After many disappointments, land was secured in August, 1987, with the purchase of 10 acres one-eighth of a mile north of Hwy. 173 on the right side of the road.

After considering several building contractors, the Strook Construction

Co. was selected. Work began on the site on Nov. 5 as a road was built, septic tanks were laid and a cement slab was poured for the floor of the entire church.

The building arrived on Nov. 18 and was erected in the next two days. The following weekend, a crew of more than 25 members of the church shingled the roof and prepared the walls for siding.

The first service in the new church was held Jan. 24. Although the formal dedication will not take place until March 6, when Rev. Ernest Moen, superintendent of the Illinois Assemblies of God will conduct the ceremony.

Post office to close at 3:30 as of Feb. 16

Effective Tuesday, Feb. 16, Antioch Post Office window service will close daily at 3:30 p.m., announced Postmaster Stan Luta. The post office closes now at 5 p.m.. The lobby will still be open until 5:30 p.m.

The cut in service is part of department-wide budget reductions. Luta said individual postmasters have discretion where to make cuts. He said he felt the earlier window closing after peak periods would result in the least inconvenience to Antioch patrons. The window opens at 8:30 a.m.

Saturday window hours will remain unchanged.

Republican committeeman dies as fire ravishes his home

by GLORIA DAVIS

An early morning fire on Tuesday, gutted a two-story frame house in the California subdivision off of Rte. 173, belonging to Lawrence Gilo, 62, who died in the fire.

According to Asst. Fire Chief Wayne Parthun, Antioch received the fire call at 5:30 a.m. and the house was engulfed in flames when firefighters arrived.

Neighbors watching the fire told firefighters that Gilo lived alone.

Parthun gained entrance through the back door where he found Gilo's body on the floor. It is assumed that Gilo almost made it to safety when he was overcome by smoke.

Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson's office said that Gilo died of carbon monoxide poisoning caused by the fire.

Make plans now for Lakeland's tax seminar

There are big changes in the tax laws this year. Taxpayers have to plan now to avoid being caught by surprise at the impact of the tax reform legislation on this year's returns.

That is why Lakeland Newspapers, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, will host a seminar on federal income taxes at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 17, in a seminar room at the College of Lake County in Grayslake.

Open to all interested parties, IRS Agent Sallie Goding will speak for about an hour and a half before opening up the floor to questions from the audience.

"The changes will affect almost everyone," she said. "The new law abolishes the deduction for a married couple when both work. Rules for IRAs have changed drastically and there are many changes in itemized deductions."

While Goding said she would not be giving advice on tax planning, she said she would give information on what has changed and how it will affect taxpayers.

Goding has been a revenue agent out of the Schaumburg office since 1980. She works in auditing of large companies and is a certified public accountant.

"Even though I will be giving my presentation for the first hour and a half, I make room in that time for individual questions when a point is not clear. For individuals who have questions beyond what will be discussed in the regular session, I will stay after and discuss it with them individually," she said.

William M. Schroeder, general manager of Lakeland Newspapers, noted that the public does not often get the chance to speak to an IRS agent in a give and take situation. "This seminar will give people that opportunity," he said.

Double Dilemma to meet

The McHenry County Mothers of Twins Club, "Double Dilemma" is looking for adult twins who would be willing to participate in a panel discussion.

The meeting is to be held at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 8 at the Crystal Lake Ambulatory. The mothers in the club hope to get answers to the ever-present quandry "Are we raising our twins right?"

Parents of multiples may get doubly confused about the choices they make in childrearing. By discussing their own childhood experiences, adult twins can help answer the questions mothers may have with their own "double dilemmas."

Anyone who is a twin and a parent and would be available to talk about their feelings and experiences as a twin or multiple, or if anyone has questions regarding the panel, call Mrs. Sam Gentili at (312)639-6479, to arrange to be a part of the panel.

Downs Counsel

The Downs (Syndrome) Development Counsel meets at 7:30 p.m. the second Monday of the month at Ivanhoe Church, Rte. 176 just west of Rte. 83 and 60 in Ivanhoe. All parents, teachers, relatives and friends of persons with Downs Syndrome are welcome to attend. At the Feb. 9 meeting, Dr. C. Douglas Parks, Supt. of Special Education Dist. of Lake County, will discuss goals and objectives of the program and answer questions from parents. For more information, call Nicki Neal at (312)520-5918.

Yearbook earns three awards

Sequoia, the yearbook of Antioch Community High School, has announced the results of its evaluations by national and regional organizations.

The 1987 yearbook earned a first class rating by the National Scholastic Press Assn., headquartered at the University of Minnesota. Sequoia '87 was given marks of distinction in the areas of concept, coverage and photography-graphics.

Columbia Scholastic Press Assn., headquartered at Columbia University in New York, awarded a first place rating to the annual, the fourth consecutive first place rating earned by ACHS students.

Finally, the 1987 yearbook was given an All-Kempa award for the fourth straight year by the Kettle Moraine Press Assn., a regional organization of high schools headquartered at the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater. The All-Kempa rating is the highest award a publication can receive from that organization.

1988 editors hold 1987 awards

Holding the three awards given to the Antioch High School 1987 yearbook, Sequoia, are 1988's editor, Lisa Hennessey, Carrie Evans, assistant editor and yearbook advisor, Mark Thompson. The 1987 Sequoia received first place press

Village board

The Antioch Village Board meets regularly at 7:30 p.m. on the first and third Monday of the month, in the new meeting hall at the village hall. Public hearings on zoning, planning, etc. are usually held before the regular meeting. The meetings are resided over by Antioch Mayor Ray Toft.

St. Peters set to hold open house

St. Peter School has chosen the week of Feb. 7 as Catholic Schools Week. Parents are invited to attend an open house at St. Peter School on Sunday, Feb. 7 following the 9:30 a.m. Mass and continuing until 1:30 p.m.

Children's work will be displayed in each homeroom and throughout the school building. Parents are welcome to visit any area of the school.

Registrations for families new to St. Peter School will begin promptly at 10:30 a.m.

Families presently enrolled may register immediately after the 9:30 a.m. Mass. Because some grades are close to the numerical limit, it is important that everyone register now.

Every family must register, including those presently attending St. Peter School. Registration is not official unless the $25 registration fee (non-refundable) is paid.

First graders and new students must present a baptismal or birth certificate. First graders must be six years of age on or before Sept. 1, 1988.

Feb. 7 is also Family Communion Sunday. The St. Peter Council of Catholic Women is joining in the open house and Catholic Schools' Week celebration by serving coffee, rolls and milk in the social center after the 9:30 a.m. Family Communion Mass.

The First Grade Mothers of St. Peter School will provide refreshments from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. for all open house visitors.

Koester is alive and well restaurant open weekends

Robert Koester, owner of Country House, clarified the status of the Antioch restaurant in the wake of a report on financial difficulties being experienced by the business he has owned since March 15, 1977.

Koester said the restaurant and lounge is open Fridays and Saturdays only at present as part of a normal winter operating schedule. Country House also is available for private parties, he stated.

Country House is operating under Chapter 11 protection of bankruptcy regulations, according to Koester, who also spiked rumors that he no longer is involved in the business and cannot be located.

"I'm running the business and I live next door to the Country House—the same place I've resided for a long time."

Koester confirmed that the business is for sale. The Country House has been for sale for at least seven years, he reported.

Teen smashes stolen car

A car stolen from in front of the White Hen Pantry on Rte. 173 last week was sighted by Antioch Police Lt. Tom Fisher and Officer George Broecker headed west on Rte. 173 at a high rate of speed.

The police took off after the car and when it reached the J&L Service Station, the driver tried to make a left-hand turn into Felters subdivision and hit a tree, totalling the car.

The driver, a 16-year-old Antioch youth, was taken to the Lake County Youth Home, charged with auto theft, criminal damage to property

Arrest two in altercation

In the early hours of Monday, John Haling, 33, was stabbed outside of the Vault Restaurant. He was treated at the hospital for his wounds and released.

According to Antioch Police Lt. Tom Fisher, Efrain Ortiz, 20, Antioch, has been charged with aggravated battery in the Haling stabbing.

According to the Antioch Police, Haling and another Antioch man, Mark Manning, 33, were in the Vault Restaurant and had some argumentative words with Ortiz and his brother, Leonel, 18.

Haling and Manning reportedly left the restaurant and Haling pounded on a window where the two Ortiz brothers were sitting, inviting them outside.

When the Ortiz brothers went outside, Efrain allegedly stabbed Haling in the right side. The younger Ortiz has been charged with battery for punching Manning.

Lake Shangri-la derby to take place on Feb. 6-7

There are few places less inviting on these early February days than the middle of frozen Lake Shangri-la, when the wind is playing games with the sound barrier.

Drives car into creek, blames wife

Brian Neuhaus, 29, Antioch, has been charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and driving too fast for conditions after his car ran off the road into a creek south of Antioch earlier this week.

According to the Lake County Sheriff's report, Neuhaus was sighted by a sheriff's deputy at 10:35 p.m. on foot at the intersection of Rte. 83 and 173. He reportedly told deputies that his wife had been driving the car and had run from the scene of the accident.

Neuhaus' wife told deputies that she had not left her home all evening.

But winter is doing its work. The ice is getting thicker, and the real sport for ice fishermen is just beginning.

For many, it's two wonderful days in the Lake Shangri-la warm clubhouse, enjoying good food, games, and the company of friends and ice fishermen.

The Lake Shangri-la Homeowners 21st Annual Ice Fishing Derby will be held this Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 6-7.

Plenty of delicious hot food will be available until 8 p.m. each evening, served by Florence and Wally Kusch and their helpers.

Derby prizes will be awarded on Sunday, Feb. 7, at 4:30 p.m. Prizes will be awarded in the following categories: perch, bass crappies, northern bass and bluegills.

Tickets are still $10 each and can be obtained from Bea Sroka at the center.

Again this year, the local Lakeland staff person Erma Koziol, and fishing experts Dave Gates, Mike Ziegelmaier and Ray Nosko will be on hand to snap pictures and note the techniques used by various ice fishers.

Proceeds from the derby will be used for community upkeep.

Emmons' fifth graders improve reading skills

At Emmons School Dist. in Antioch, there is one class at each grade level. To find out what's happening in fifth grade, come visit Mrs. Fleshman's class.

Fifth graders are discovering how frequently their different subjects overlap. In reading the novel "My Brother Sam is Dead," they are not only improving their reading skills but also realizing the effects that the American Revolution had on a family torn apart by conflicting loyalties to the British Crown and the new colonies.

The class has been divided into groups to work together on the novel with each member of the group being given specific roles. The class has also written letters to students in a fifth grade class in Andalusia, Ala., and is eagerly awaiting their return letters.

The fifth grade classroom is fortunate to have their own computer and they use it often. Currently they are writing their own comic strips with the help of one of this year's new software programs. Some students go to a first grade classroom to help those students learn how to use a computer.

The class is also anticipating using a word processor to produce the school newspaper.

Science class has given the group a chance to learn about magnetism and electricity.

As Emmons' fifth graders prepare for their junior high years they are also discovering ways to be good students. Learning to write answers to essay questions and to pace their study time over several days rather than "the night before" are skills that will reap benefits as they continue to learn.

PM&L has to switch to 'Breath of Spring'

by CAROLYN HAMMOND
(312)395-6081

It was an unreal weekend—unbelievably warm temperatures and an unbelievable blowout in Superbowl XXII. Oh well, it gave you an opportunity to party didn't it? Now it's going to be back to reality as the weather becomes more winter-like and football romp featuring a group of ladies in their late middle-age who turn to thievery. Starring in the production will be: Yvonne Dyer as Lady Miller, Mickey Mandelas Nanette Perry, Lou Jones as Brigadier Rayne, Debbie Bono as Lily Thompson, Aileen Biel as Dame Beatrice, Shirley Jensen as Miss Hatfield, Rick Lawrence (formerly Oak Crest).

Antioch Upper Grade Wrestling Apaches continued their winning ways with a 48-26 win over Carl Sandburg Jr. High of Mundelein. Results: 75 pounds, Greg Zalapi, fall; 80 pounds, Richie Weber, fall; 90 pounds, Mark Plonka, 6-2 decision; 95 pounds, Greg Guntharp, 4-4 draw; 100 pounds, Brian Larsen, fall; 112 pounds, Tim Lehn, fall in first period; 119 pounds, Brian Nelson, straight decision 4-1; 135 pounds, Tom Lehn, fall; 155 pounds, Steve Frillman, fall in the first period; and 185 pounds, Kevin Wisneski, by forfeit.

The Apaches will next meet long arch-rivals Harvard and were set to open at home Feb. 4 against Johnsburg who always is competitive. They will travel to Wheeling Feb. 6 for the Homes Tournament where they will try to best their 1987 second place finish. Good luck!

News & Notes

fades into a memory until next fall.

The PM&L Theatre is all set to open with a memory that you won't want to fade. "The Nerd," as reported, will not be PM&L's next presentation. Due to it being professionally presented within a 75-mile radius, PM&L had to change to another play.

Instead they will present "A Breath of Spring," a delightful as Pape, and Stan Livermore as Kemp.

Opening night is Friday, Feb. 12, with a performance to follow on Saturday, Feb. 13. Curtain time both nights is 8 p.m.

Results for the Antioch Upper Grade Invitational Eighth Grade Basketball Tournament are: first place, Johnsburg; second place, Antioch Upper Grade; third place, Round Lake; fourth place, Kenneth Murphy

Calvary Christian School holds annual science fair

Calvary Christian School's second annual Science Fair will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 11.

Second through fourth graders with the best projects will receive ribbons. For fifth grade and up, the first place winners will receive a plaque, second place a trophy, and third place and honorable mentions will receive ribbons.

In the second through 10th grades, the projects will be judged on originality, difficulty, oral presentation, visual impact or display, research, and experimental procedure.

Seventh through 10th graders will also be judged on identifiable hypothesis, a limited topic, control group, experimental group or groups, limitation of variables, standards of evaluation, accuracy of observation, meaningful classification and analysis.

Some of the projects students in fifth and sixth grade are working on include layers of rock, how light affects plants, causes and effects of tornadoes, and how color blends to form white light.

Some of the junior high students are doing projects on changing the color of fish, the most economical battery to buy, the behavior of hermit crabs, fabrics that clean the easiest, heredity, and how color affects people.

High school students' projects include talking to marigolds, the effect of a filter on fish, freezing fresh water and salt water, bacteria, calories and weight, and the effect of refined and unrefined sugar on humans.

These are just a few of the projects that may be displayed at the science fair. The public is invited to attend. For more information, call (312)356-6181.

Schedule history celebration

Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. President Donald Strenger announced that the eighth annual celebration of Black History in Lake County will take place on Sunday, Feb. 7 from 4 to 6 p.m. at the College of Lake County.

The program includes: gospel singing, speeches, dance, dramatic presentations, blues

Time Machine

TWENTY YEARS AGO: Feb. 1, 1968

Grass Lake Rd. was the first road in Lake County to get some of the new street signs planned for all over county.

An editorial in the Antioch News called for action on correcting the growing pollution in the Chain O'Lakes.

Marge Ohlgren of Felters Subdivision saw her first robin of 1968.

Antioch Rainbows installed Judi Wells as Worthy Advisor.

Sequoit Lodge 827 installed Fred Andersen as Chaplain.

Although it was Antioch's parents' night, the Sequoit cagers dropped their game against the Grayslake Rams, 68-49.

The Sequoits also lost a close one to Lake Forest as "Dave Camp quarterbacked the Sequoits in Bart Starr style."

The Wesley Evening Circle of the Antioch Methodist Church was hosted by Mrs. James Glenn and Mrs. Walter Message.

A three bedroom house in Antioch was renting for $100 per month.

Butter was selling for 69 cents a pound and fully cooked ham was selling for 39 cents a pound at the Antioch A&P.

Frank Besset, Paul Strahan, John Renfro and Paul Maplethorpe, members of Cub Scout Pack 192, received their Wolf awards.

Army Spec. 4 Don Lasco returned home from Vietnam.

TEN YEARS AGO: Feb. 2, 1978

Area snowmobilers were credited with helping emergency services during the Blizzard of '78 that came on the night of Jan. 26. People were rescued from stranded automobiles and from open businesses and taken to the high school.

Lakeland Newspaper Editor Irene Gable was giving talks about her trip accompanying Jimmy and Rosalyn Carter on their campaign train.

"Death of a Saleman," starring George Blanksten as Willy Loman and Anna Marie Cina as Linda his wife was PM&L's latest production.

Sequoit Lodge 827's inside, outside remodeling was finished for all to see.

Officers of the 885 Civic Club were Earl Stringer, treasurer, Norman Rockow, president, Charles Rayman, vice president and Joe Titus secretary.

Bowling for the Antioch Lions Club were members, Homer LaPlante, Chuck Davis, John Christiansen and Lou Crawford.

Antioch Swim Team Coach Marty Berry was proud of her team that was the "backbone" of the swim team sponsored by the YMCA of Greater Lake County. Winning first place blue ribbons were Kaky Kelly, Judy Houghton, Joan Cilik and Karen Shepard.

Hank and Rickey Apostol observed their 25th wedding anniversary.

Set deadline for SHARE Food sign-up, Feb. 12

The Share Food program promoted by the Antioch Exchange Club serves to meet the food and volunteer needs of the Antioch area.

Anyone may participate. The cost is $14 plus three hours of volunteer service each month, for each unit of food.

A unit provides about 40 pounds of food. More than one share unit can be earned. Any volunteer work already done counts. The Exchange Club also has a list of volunteer services in the Antioch area.

One can also earn their three hours by volunteering to work on the Saturday delivery date each month.

The Antioch Exchange Club sign-up sites are the Antioch Chamber of Commerce office, Antioch Twp. Office, State Bank of Antioch, and the First National Bank of Antioch and village hall.

Register by 1 p.m. Friday, Feb. 12, for delivery on Saturday, Feb. 27.

Delivery site is the Park Ave. Mall warehouse behind Barnstables.

For more information, call the Antioch Chamber office, (312) 395-2233.

Antioch Exchange, which brought the Share Food program to the Antioch area, will continue to promote the program in 1988, providing a week's supply of good food for only $14.

what are the three most important features investors prefer in their investments?

1. Safety

Safety of collateral: Ginnie Mae Collateralized Bonds are collateralized by obligations of the United States Government. They carry Standard & Poor's highest rating of AAA.

2. Safety

Safety of high yields and monthly interest: Month after month, like clockwork the funds are credited to your account or mailed to you.

3. Safety

Safety of liquidity: these bonds can be sold at market price in a viable secondary market which provides excellent liquidity. In addition, bond-holders benefit from a redemption fund that permits requests for payment in the event of death or at the holders option should funds be available.

SHARE THE SUCCESS.

Ginnie Mae Collateralized Bonds have all three features and offer current yields of Gilo was an Antioch Republican committeeman and also an active member of the Antioch Masonic Lodge, serving as a ritual instructor. The committeemen are giving a cash donation to the lodge in Gilo's name. On Wednesday, Antioch's chief fire investigator, Wayne Parthun, said that the fire was caused by the careless use of smoking materials.

He added that there was no working smoke alarm in the house which is a violation of state fire ordinances.

Closing Coast Guard's unit brings protest

Two state legislators whose districts lie among Lake Michigan have joined forced with Congressman John Porter (R-Winnetka) in protesting the proposed closing of the Glenview Coast Guard helicopter rescue unit, saying it will put lake boaters' lives in jeopardy. State Senators David N. Barkhausen (R-Lake Bluff) and Adeline J. Geo-Karis (R-Zion) believe the Coast Guard service is critical, because without it, rescue calls will have to be forwarded to the Traverse City, Mich., unit some 300 miles away. The only other service available is provided by the Chicago Fire Dept., whose two helicopters are non-amphibious.

"I know federal agencies like the Coast Guard are looking for ways to economize, but sacrificing lives that could be saved is not the answer," said Geo-Karis. "This is a big lake and a deep one. When boaters get into trouble, how are they going to hang on an extra hour and a half for rescuers from northern Michigan to locate them and come to their aid?"

Barkhausen pointed out that the Coast Guard unit saved 143 lives between 1981 and 1986. "Without this service, 20 to 25 more boaters may be lost each year on the lake," he said. "Surely there is some alternative, such as higher boat launching charges or increased boat license fees, if necessary, to help the Coast Guard cover expenses."

Barkhausen said it's very likely that lakeshore communities and the state would be willing to pitch in. "After all, the state is making an effort to promote recreational opportunities, such as the new marina at Waukegan and the one under construction at Winthrop Harbor," he said.

Geo-Karis said she applauds Congressman Porter for his efforts to keep the Coast Guard rescue service operating. "The Congressman has learned that the service costs just over $2 million a year," she said. "That's a lot of money, until you think of it in terms to human lives—you can put a value on lives."

Barkhausen added, "While I frequently favor governmental cost-cutting, our local Coast Guard rescue operations certainly are not expendable. This unit serves all of the south shore, and it would be a great loss to the states of Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin as well as to Illinois. Perhaps a cooperative effort with the three other Lake Michigan states will be necessary to assure continuation of this essential service."

The two senators said they will be contacting Coast Guard officials and Illinois members of the Congress to urge a reversal of the decision to close the Glenview facility.

DIABETIC FOOT INFECTIONS

For a diabetic, foot infections can be a leading cause of serious problems.

Now it has been learned that the site where infection is located has an important bearing on the success or failure of treatment. Researches at Rutgers Medical School, New Brunswick, NJ, found that diabetics who had distal infections, or those affecting the toes or metatarsophalangeal joints, had a much better prognosis than persons whose infections were located along the metatarsal bones, at the heel, or above the ankle.

Diabetic foot infections can be a potentially difficult surgical problem because the infections may extend to structures far away from those detected when the patient is first examined.

Diabetic patients should schedule regular podiatric examinations. Professional care of nails and skin can help avoid infection.

Alternative to executive

Far-sighted politicians and students of government for at least 10 years have pondered the advantages of direct election by the people of the head of Lake County government. The popular conception of this group was having the chairman of the County Board run at large.

Now a group of Republicans has seized upon a badly written, obscure piece of legislation providing for an elected head when the form of county government is changed. Lake County voters are being asked by the GOP group banded together as Citizens for Lake County to adopt county executive form of government in the March 15 primary.

While the so-called citizens group is highly organized and off and running under the leadership of Lake County Republican Chairman Robert "Bob" Neal, so far the Neal group has not explained why other options were not considered or why there is such a hurry to overhaul Lake County government.

County executive form of government was provided in the rewrite of the 1970 Illinois Constitution. So far, it has been presented in only two counties, both times being defeated. At present, the statute is undergoing revision and there is a question to whether the March 15 vote will be legal.

Not a white elephant

In a locality known for its vibrant tourist and recreation industry, Illinois Beach Resort and Conference Center at Zion is an enigma. All around it are thriving motels and recreation businesses while Illinois Beach Resort loses money. Even more confounding is the fact that Illinois Beach State Park at which the resort is located is one of the most popular state parks in Illinois, regularly setting attendance records.

Now the resort built on the Lake Michigan shore nearly 30 years ago is closed, its operator, Brooke Inns of Lake Forest, is declaring bankruptcy. The unexpected closing cost 100 persons their jobs.

The resort was built by the Illinois Dept. of Conservation upon the urging of Gov. William Stratton, a native of Lake County. Opponents of the project called the sprawling structure "Stratton's Monument." In hindsight, Proponents of county executive are arguing that the present system where the chairman is elected by fellow County Board members is not accountable to voters. That's hogwash. Who's to argue that it isn't the system at fault, but County Board members who are too incompetent to make it work? At the same time, the present system might be all too responsive to the electorate to suit the fancy of some County Board members who would prefer a czar-like executive with absolute veto power.

Statutory county office holders are being whipped into line on a partisan basis to support county executive with the exception of County Clerk Linda Hess, a Democrat. Implications have surfaced that the county executive would be the highest paid official in the county. On such a basis, statutory officers all would move up a salary peg or two. The executive would require staff and facilities, duplicating to a large extent present personnel. We don't see any economies or efficiencies here.

If voters are concerned about acquiring more effective leadership on the County Board, they ought to start by making changes in its membership, rather than adopting an unknown, untried system. Making representative changes isn't all that difficult and it's a lot safer.

Gov. Stratton probably wishes the imposing lodge would have been built somewhere on the Chain O'Lakes where he grew up. While a facility of that size probably would have been a financial success serving visitors to the Chain, it would have been a political impossibility, smacking too much of pork barrelling.

There are those who insist that Illinois Beach Resort is not a white elephant, this newspaper included. If managed properly, the resort should be successful, considering that it is part of a growing network of tourist attractions in Lake County, drawing visitors from all over the Midwest.

Lake County's tourism overflow should be enough to insure profitability of the 96-room facility, but for a variety of reasons people haven't been finding their way to Illinois Beach Resort.

Make airport need evident

Studies are far enough along to point to the fact that Campbell Airport is well worth preserving as a general aviation facility. Surrounded by open farm country south of Grayslake and Round Lake Park, Campbell seems well situated to serve auxiliary commercial needs, the key to its future.

Nationally known airport consultants Ralph Burke Associates presently are in the completion stages of a feasibility study that could propel the more than 30-year-old airport toward ownership by a public entity, much like venerable Palwaukee Airport was purchased by Wheeling and Mount Prospect.

Officials of Round Lake Park have indicated a keen interest in acquiring the airport, privately owned since its inception, and maintaining it for public use. Considering the fact that the federal government makes 90 percent funding available for acquisition and upgrading airports, it's no wonder that Round Lake Park has expressed strong interest in acquiring Campbell.

Private pilots from all over, northeastern Illinois base aircraft at Campbell. Now it is time for business and industry in the locality to express commercial needs. No one is looking at Campbell as a potential jetport. The airport, however, could become an integral part of Lake County's growing high tech complexion. That must be made evident now to insure Campbell Airport's future.

Letters To The Editor

Clarifying funeral expenses

Editor:

I read with great interest the article in the Jan. 29 issue by Gary S. Meyers titled "Funeral expense and options knowledge will save money."

The reason for this letter is to take issue with two points which were made in the article that aren't necessarily correctly stated as written.

The first of the two points comes under the heading "plot charges" and deals with the last three lines of the paragraph which state "Otherwise, perpetual care is included in the plot price." This isn't always the case as there are a number of different types of care which can be had depending on how the individual cemetery's charter is structured, and can greatly increase the cost of space over an extended period of time. The customer is cautioned to be certain to ask about the "care" provisions of any agreement entered into.

The second point deals with "donation" of remains, and states, "Giving the body to science is a non-traditional option that costs nothing." In Illinois this isn't the case. Once a body is donated for medical research it is generally kept for about one year, after which time it is then cremated at no charge to the family. However, the family then has the responsibility for making the final arrangements for disposition of the created remains as they see fit, at their expense.

Lastly, many cemeteries do market their arrangements on a pre-need basis which can do much to relieve the many burdens placed upon a family at the time of death. Some funeral homes also engage in this practice.

Need youth leaders

Editor:

Camp Fire, formerly Camp Fire Girls, is a national not-for-profit youth agency providing educational and recreational activities, self-reliance and camping programming to youth through age 21. Trained volunteer leaders are committed to the purpose of Camp Fire, which is to provide through a program of formal education, opportunities for youth to realize their potential and to function as effectively as caring, self-directed individuals responsible to themselves and to others.

Currently, Le-To-He, Illinois Council, is seeking individuals in our community who have an interest in the needs of youth; who have time to learn, share and grow, and who have expertise in one or more of the following areas:

Child/youth development, financial management, Camp Fire program and structure, legal affairs, marketing, media relations, non-profit program administration, organizational behavior, personnel management, volunteer administration and volunteerism.

Expand park proposal

Editor:

While I feel a park district is a wonderful idea, I don't feel the community at large will benefit if it is restricted to Lindenhurst.

While Lindenhurst is a growing community, so is the entire Lake Villa Twp. area. Many children in the township who attend the same schools as many Lindenhurst children would be charged an extra fee for the same program. Indeed, this would affect all residents of the township, from "our tots to our teens and senior citizens" (quote from article). This would only

Public service would be boon to drug fight

by BILL SCHIROEDER

At the highest level of government there is talk of instituting some kind of mandatory public service program for American youth.

That's the word from Lake County State's Atty. Fred Foreman, who as a leader of a national organization of prosecuting attorneys has had opportunity to rub elbows with high ranking officials including the boss himself, President Ronald Reagan.

Short of military conscription, more than a few leaders in the Reagan administration feel that public service, sort of along Peace Corps lines, would be beneficial. The way Foreman described the service, deferral would be permitted for educational purposes, but the only out would be enlistment in the armed forces.

Foreman finds the mandatory service idea interesting. There are such aspects as patriotism, learning experience, maturation and positive impact on unemployment. The key, though, is none of these. "Coupled with random testing, mandatory public service would enable our nation to break the back of the grip on our youth of drug dependence with random testing. Public service would give us the opportunity to deal with young people, educate them about drugs and help the ones in need of help," declared Foreman.

Because of the war against drugs, the state's attorney finds the theory of mandatory public service interesting. Another favorite theory of Foreman is establishment of a work farm to quarter minor Lake County offenders as an alternative to jail.

Both proposals have appeal. This column has supported Foreman's work farm proposal in the past. We'd also like to see mandatory public service brought before the public for debate.

King deserves spot in pantheon of heroes

IT IS ASTONISHING that almost a quarter century after the drive for full civil rights many Americans still consider the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. to have been a divisive force in our nation's history.

His detractors, mostly conservative white Americans, say that wherever King went, violence followed. They are of the opinion that he did more to set the races against each other than he did to bring them together.

They are wrong.

King deserves his spot in the pantheon of the great American heroes. It is a national shame that a century after the Civil War was over, America still practiced institutionalized oppression of an entire class of people.

That this should be the case opened up the possibility for serious violence in this country, on the scale of a revolution. How long were black people supposed to wait to gain entry into public facilities? How long were black people supposed to tolerate the lynchings of their people, the bombing of their churches, the cruel violence of the Ku Klux Klan?

Many white leaders in those days said that, given time, everything could be worked out. But how much time? A century had passed and blacks were not allowed in state-run universities, public restaurants, even public toilets. The proponents of patience asked too much of a people who had been patient for four generations without result.

The time was ripe for an angry black leader to come onto the scene preaching hate and revolution. Such a leader would have had a national audience of eager ears, tired of the institutionalized hatred and bigotry that they, their fathers, and their grandfathers had suffered. How could they sit and be patient, with the knowledge that such a course would only insure that their children would have no better lot.

But instead of a black leader preaching revolution, this nation got the Rev. Martin Luther King, a man who understood that the enemy was not a class of people, but hatred itself.

Did violence follow in King's wake? Frequently it did. But it seems to me that it was not black mobs who were lynching white folks. Nor was it black mobs setting attack dogs on southern police and beating them brutally with billy clubs. Nor was it black thugs bombing white churches, maiming children in Birmingham.

The time had come that this nation had to make a collective decision - either equal justice and opportunity were for all people or this nation was but a sham, a mockery of the noble principles upon which it was founded.

In spite of the violence of the time, the Rev. King never wavered from the mission he began - to overcome the hatred and bigotry which had so divided this society. He never urged his followers to hate white people. Instead, he urged the classic biblical injunction to hate the sin but love the sinner.

People of all colors owe the Rev. King a debt of eternal gratitude that, at a time when this country could have exploded in violence, he never lost sight of his dream. The dream was that there would be a time in this land when the little black children and the little white children, when all God's children, could sit down together in peace as brothers and sisters.

Jesus taught us to turn the other cheek, to return love when confronted with hatred. Thank heaven that King believed and lived by this principle.

This is one conservative white man who believes that the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. was one of the greatest heroes this nation has ever produced.

THE NEXT TWO weeks will be a party-goer's delight. Four fundraisers (count 'em) have been scheduled for various Republican organizations and candidates between now and Feb. 14.

First on the list is the Grant Twp. Republican Club, which will hold its Lincoln Day Dinner at 6 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 6, at Maravela's in Fox Lake. The guest speaker will be Mr. Republican himself, Ed Vrdolyak. Good Republicans aren't supposed to notice that Vrdolyak was Mr. Democrat until it became inconvenient. Regardless, he is certain to put on a heck of a show.

On Thursday, Feb. 11, Lake County State's Atty. Fred Foreman will hold a joint fundraiser with McHenry County State's Atty. Tom Baker at the Country Squire in Grayslake from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Foreman is unopposed in the primary and in a generous mood - thus a little help for his McHenry counterpart, who is facing a stiff contest. For reservations, call (312) 623-5277.

On Saturday, Feb. 13, Dist. 4 County Board candidates Larry Leafblad and Suzi Schmidt will hold a Valentines' Day Bash at 8 p.m. at the Country House in Antioch. Tickets are available at the door or by calling (312) 223-2086 or (312) 356-3173. This party is set to run until 2 a.m. Leafblad promises there will be no speeches, just hors d'oeuvres and dancing to the music of the original Scotch Lads and K-Ace. Suzi Schmidt's husband, Bob, is keyboard player for both bands. I've been to some of Leafblad and Schmidt's parties - they know how to throw a bash.

Finally, on Sunday, Feb. 14, there will be a dance in honor of Lake County Republican Chairman Bob Neal. It will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Carlton, Green Bay Rd. and Rte. 120 in Waukegan. Tickets are available at the door for $20 per person or $35 per couple. Call me a sentimental old fool, but spending the evening with Bob Neal was not exactly what I had in mind for a romantic Valentines' Day.

serve to further divide the residents of our township.

If the township residents would join forces to form a township park district, think how many more services could be offered since the tax base would be even larger than if restricted to Lindenhurst alone. One only needs to look at Warren Twp. and Round Lake Area Park Dist. to see the benefits provided by larger numbers and area served.

I hope that Trustee Wilma Wetzel and the Lindenhurst Park Commission will consider the benefits of a Lake Villa Twp. Park Dist. and work towards the formation of a bigger, better and more beneficial park district.

Losing young teachers

Editor:

I went through our local schools, my three children attended Wauconda, and now my grandchildren will be entering our school district. I have taught in my hometown for many years and I have always been proud of the quality of education we have been able to offer our students.

I have seen dedicated fine teachers come to our district and stay to make their homes here. We have been lucky to keep such good teachers. Now I notice we have been losing young excellent teachers. They choose to move on to districts where the salaries are competitive and where the communities support their schools.

Students come back to visit and talk about memories of our classes. I ask them what they remember that affected them the most, and they invariably mention the very programs that would have to be cut without new funding.

At a recent reunion of Wauconda graduates we reminisced. We talked about proms, sports, music and friendships. I not only want these programs to be maintained, but I want our special curriculum offerings to be expanded. I want these advantages for my grandchildren-for all of our children-and for my hometown.

Times have changed, and the education fund of 1964 cannot do the job anymore. We need a 'yes' vote this March 15 for the education fund tax referendum. We all want Wauconda Dist. 118 to be the best.

Thanks to coach

Editor:

I know I speak for many former students and athletes at Warren Twp. High School who were prepared for the challenges of life through the tutelage of Coach Mike Galgan. I had the opportunity to play for Mr. Galgan on the 1965 and 1966 championship teams. There is no question that through Mr. Galgan's dedication, discipline, and encouragement, many of us are better citizens today.

Warren has a reputation for great school spirit. Mike Galgan will always be part of that spirit.

It has often been said that coaching sports in high school is a thankless job. Mr. Galgan, on behalf of those of us on your 1965-66 team-thank you.

College of Lake County is a precious resource

by DANIEL J. LAVISTA

(Editor's note: Daniel J. LaVista is the president of the College of Lake County.)

Throughout the country, February has been designated as National Community College Month. As part of that designation, Gov. Thompson has declared the week on Feb. 7-13 as Illinois Community College Week.

On behalf of the faculty, staff and Board of Trustees as the College of Lake County, I invite you to celebrate the record of accomplishments made possible through your community college. In doing so, you will be celebrating your own success and that of your neighbors, friends and colleagues.

More than four million students took college credit classes at America's community colleges last year. This represents over 41 percent of all undergraduate students enrolled at college. In Illinois, more than half of the students across the state enrolled in undergraduate higher education were attending community colleges.

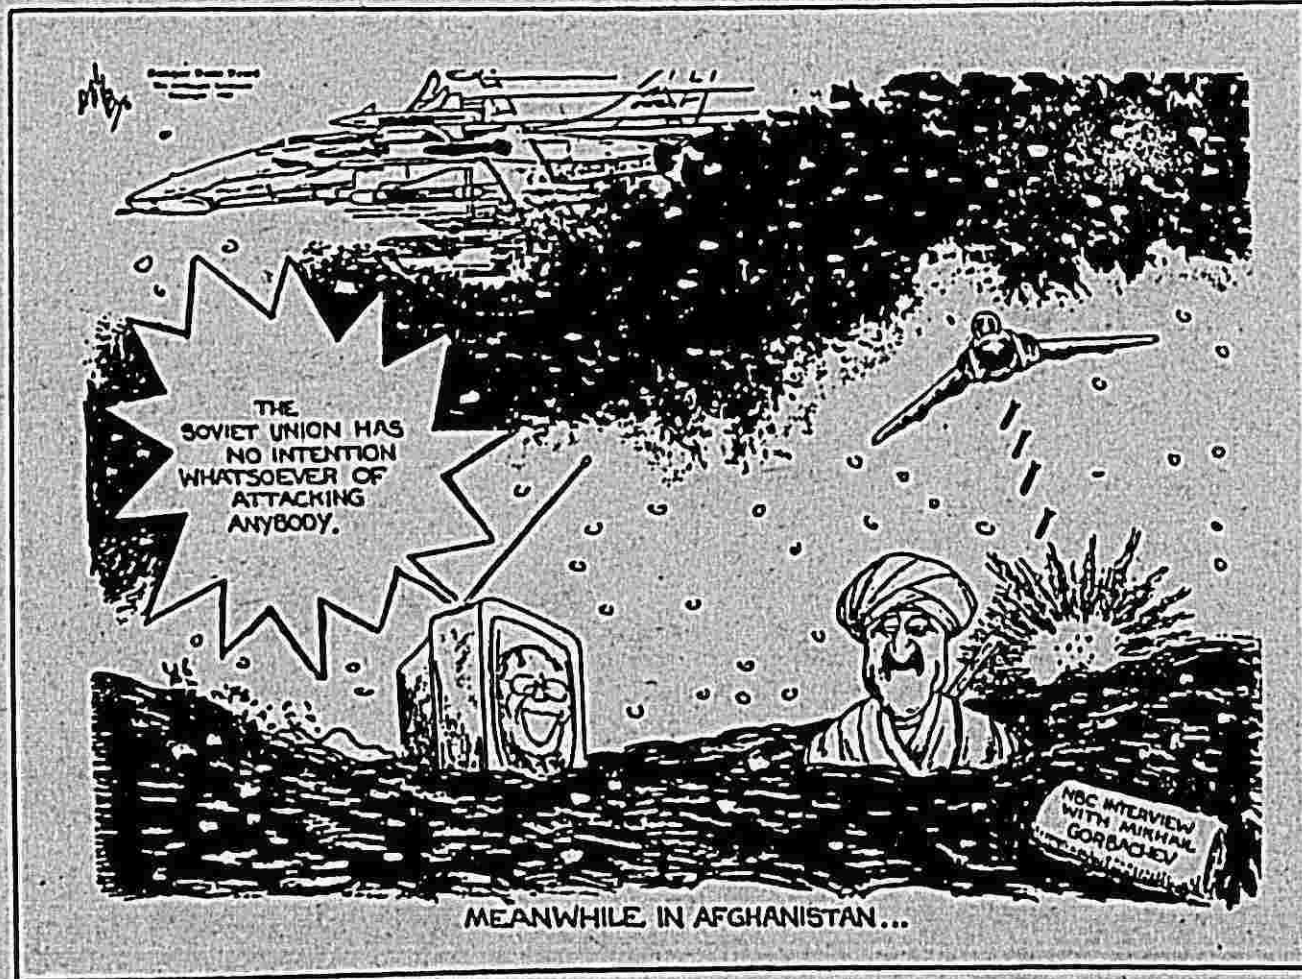

Here at the College of Lake County, over 45,000 individuals last year pursued their educational goals through enrolling in courses, participating in workshops, attending conferences, etc. The feedback from these students indicates that the college has had a strong, positive influence on their lives. The college points with pride to a 95 percent success rate in the job placement and university transfer of its recent graduates.

Although the baccalaureate transfer program at CLC is only one part of our mission, it is a critical part. All statistics indicate that completing the first two years at CLC provides an excellent base for transferring successfully to a four-year college or university. The report compares the grade point averages of students in their junior year at the U of I in the spring of 1985. Those juniors who had started at the U of I had a GPA of 3.9 as juniors. Those who had transferred from other institutions had a GPA of 4.19. Those who transferred from the College of Lake County, however, had a GPA at the U of I of 4.50. Clearly, CLC graduates leave here ready to compete with the best.

In addition to its more traditional roles in classroom instruction, CLC is an active partner with other agencies in the economic development of Lake County. Our Small Business Development Center, for example, has worked with 415 small business owners since 1986, providing them help in business planning, market analysis, risk management, etc. CLC's Procurement Assistance Center has helped bring over $12 million in government contracts to Lake County businesses in the past year alone. Our computerized bid matching service in this area is more comprehensive than that of any other college in the country.

On behalf of the entire College of Lake County community, I invite you to celebrate the individual and community advancement which has taken place across the country through partnerships with community colleges. It is my hope that over the coming year each of you will find a way to use the resources of CLC to help you meet your goals. The future of Lake County looks exciting and we at CLC are happy to be part of it.

County executive boosters open campaign office

by CHARLES JOHNSTON
Managing Editor

The campaign to create an elected county executive has begun in earnest. Citizens for Lake County, the group which is pushing for passage of the March 15 referendum on this issue, has opened its headquarters in Libertyville.

The grand opening of the campaign headquarters was attended by a mix of politicians, business people, and interested citizens.

The keynote speaker, Lake County State's Atty. Fred Foreman, said, "If we already had a county executive and were here today to propose that it be abolished in favor of the present system, the people of this county would be up in arms."

Foreman bluntly criticized the League of Women Voters for what he called a slanted study on the issue. Referring to a warning by the League that creation of a county executive would dangerously tilt the balance of power in favor of the executive because he would preside over the County Board, Foreman said, "If the League really has a problem with that, it had better take a look at the federal government and municipalities. The Vice-President, a member of the federal executive branch, presides over the Senate. In cities and villages, the mayor presides over the council."

The state's attorney discounted criticism that, if passed, the first candidates for county executive will be chosen by precinct committeemen rather than going through a primary. "That's the way we choose the President," he said. "Each party elects delegates who go to convention and vote."

He will also supervise the activities of company sales personnel in Lake Zurich and of regional company managers. He will be the liaison with Arrow's national network of distributors. Scaglione and his wife, Louise, have two sons and live in Lincolnshire.

Fried keeps patients' eyes in top shape

by IRIS MAYFIELD

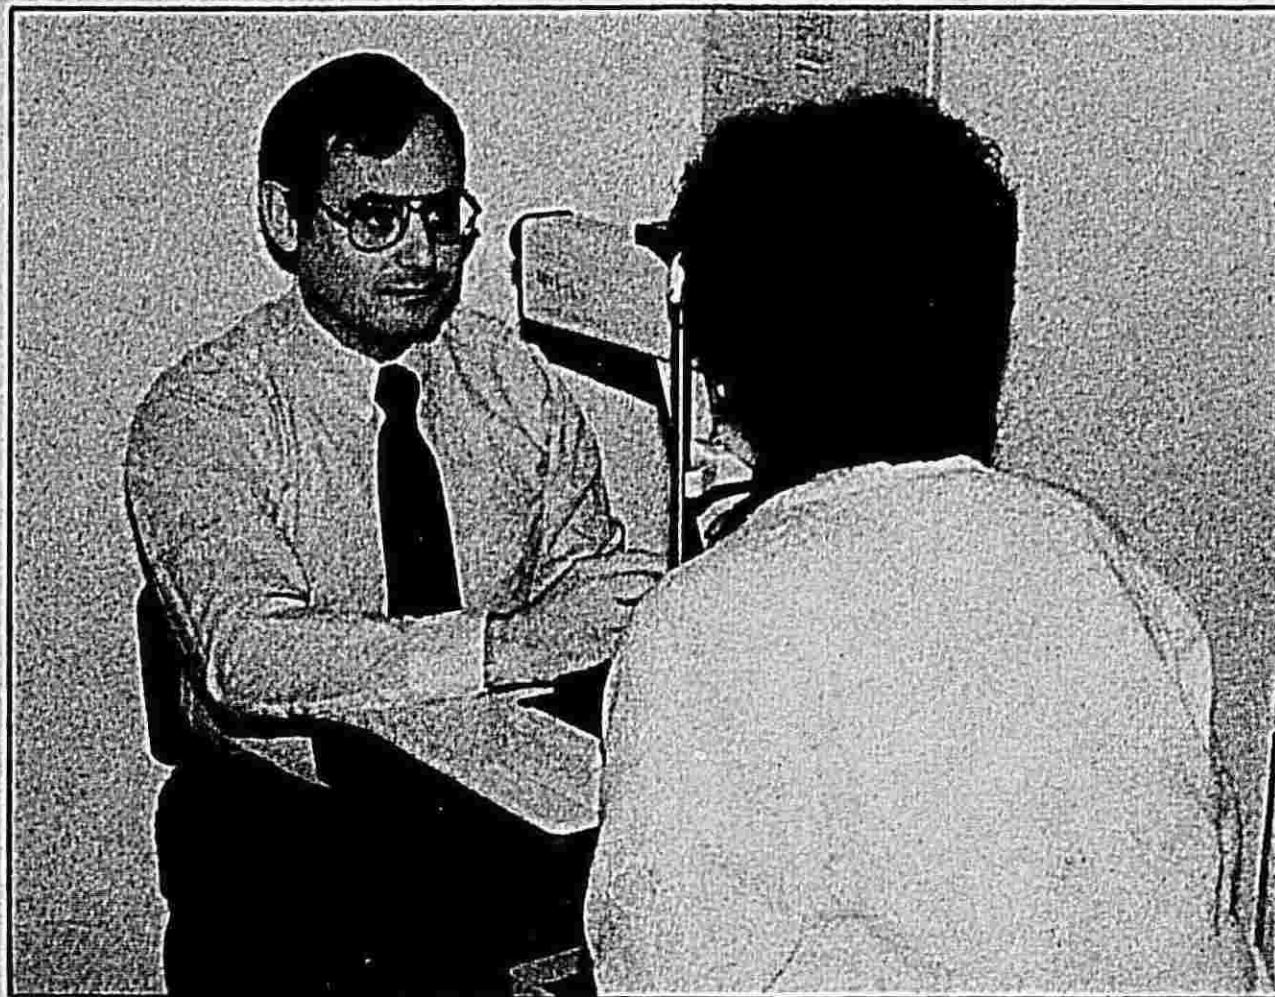

Specialist and innovator in the field of cataract surgery, Ophthalmologist Walter T. Fried, M.D. says, "I'd rather spend my time doing the medical and surgical, and (on) the health of the eye."

Dr. Fried uses a procedure called phacoemulsification, which is removal of cataracts through a small incision in the eye and implantation of an intraocular lens. This surgical procedure has gained popularity in the last two to three years, and Fried says he considers it the best.

Cataracts only occur on the lens of the eye, and "almost everyone over 65 has them," Fried says. A cataract is a cloudiness in the lens of the eye that blurs the vision.

Two thousand years ago, cataracts were removed by two people holding down the patient, while a third person pushed hard on the outside of the eye, the cornea. This would pop the lens out, removing the cataract that had grown on the lens, and removing the person's sight.

In 1950 implantations in the lens of the eye started being used as a corrective surgical procedure. Fried said that up to 10 years ago whole incisions through the eye were made, and then a freezing probe was used to take out the lens.

Fried says that an inconsistency of past procedures were the one-size lenses used in implantations. The one size was good for some, but bad for others.

"Phacoemulsification tends to be used by people who do a lot of surgery, as it takes expertise," he said. It only takes two stitches to close the six millimeter incision, which is made farther from the cornea of the eye, than in the past. This means the stigmatism, that is associated with cataract surgery, is much less and lasts for about three weeks instead of six to eight weeks.

Fried says, "You have to have the 401(k) can sweeten retirement

by GARY S. MEYERS

Want to know how you can retire with a million bucks or more, without playing the lottery? Your ticket may well be a 401(k) savings plan. It's legal, moral and not fattening.

Specifically, 401(k) is an IRS-approved, tax-sheltered, salary-reduction savings plan. While it is a mouthful to say, it's easy to understand.

A 401(k) plan is similar to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA), but the savings limits are three and a half times higher. The way the plan is structured under IRS rules, employees can reap rates of return on their investment that could be 10 to 20 times greater than with a typical IRA.

The 401(k) program is not new, and its benefits have been scaled down a bit with tax reform. Nonetheless, the remaining benefits are attracting employees at top corporations such as Ford, Honeywell, Mobil and a growing list of other Fortune 500 companies.

Here's how it works. As an employee of a company having a 401(k), you can have your taxable salary reduced by as much as 25 percent, or $7,000 a year, whichever is less. You choose how much to put away. The money you save is treated as an employer contribution, so that you have less income to be taxed, while your savings build tax free.

For example, say you are earning $36,000 a year and you want to save the maximum $7,000. Your salary would be reduced by $7,000, leaving you with a taxable income of $29,000.

However, "the real bonus of a 401(k) comes from tax laws that are structured to encourage companies to contribute matching funds into employee savings," said Stephen Geifman, compensation expert with Laventhol & Horwath, a national accounting and consulting firm.

"While there is no legal limit to a company's matching contribution, a typical company will sweeten the savings habit by putting up 50 cents or as much as $1 for every dollar the employee saves," said Geifman. "This can start you off with a 50 to 100 percent bonus return on your savings every time you make a deposit—before a single dime has been invested."

The end results for retirement can be staggeringly delicious.

The savings potential of a 401(k) with a $7,000 contribution, matched dollar for dollar by the company, after five years at a 10 percent rate of return, would be $94,019; at a 15 percent rate of return, $108,552.

After 20 years, at a 10 percent rate, the savings would be $882,035; at a 15 percent rate, $1,649,342.

On top of all this, the benefits could be doubled if both you and your spouse each were employed and participated in a 401(k) plan at the same or different companies.

"Technically, the savings and employer contributions aren't totally tax-free, but rather tax-deferred. While you are saving, the principal and the accrued earnings from the savings compound and accumulate tax-free," said Geifman. "But, you will be taxed on both when you start drawing out cash, presumably when you retire and your tax bracket is lower than during your prime earning years."

However, the first $45,000 of income, including 401(k) contributions, will be subject to the 7.51 percent Social Security tax (FICA).

Like an IRA, and most other IRS-approved retirement savings programs, with a 401(k) you are not supposed to touch your savings until you reach age 59½, except in cases of divorce court orders, death, disability, medical emergency, early retirement at age 55 (in installment payments) and finally an annuity payable over the life expectancy of the employee.

However, unlike an IRA, it is possible to access your money for non-hardship situations and still avoid a penalty. "Many companies have loan programs which allow financially pressed employees to borrow against their 401(k) and still keep the plan intact," said Geifman.

Money in a 401(k) savings plan may be withdrawn, without penalty, if the funds go into another IRS-qualified tax-deferred savings plan, such as an IRA or a Keogh.

There are some minor drawbacks to the 401(k).

—If you participate in a 401(k) plan, there are restrictions on contributing to an IRA. If your income is $35,000 as a single or $50,000 for a joint income couple, you cannot make any tax deductible IRA contributions.

—Like other tax-deferred savings plans, there are penalties for non-exempt early withdrawals of 10 percent on the amount withdrawn, plus taxes.

If your company does not have a 401(k) and you would like to participate in one, you can request the plan from your employer or through your union representative.

In order for a company's 401(k) plan to be qualified under IRS rules, it must be accepted by your company's management and a significant number of your fellow employees.

right people." He notes that he needs a full and competent staff to free him to concentrate on the medical diagnoses and surgical treatments of his patients.

Working in his 10-room office suite, he has two nurses, four certified ophthalmic technicians, along with seven other staff members.

Fried says there are two specialized fields at work that determine diagnosis and treatment. They are his training for medical evaluations, and his technicians' ability to use and give him eye measurements from a variety of machines in his office.

He has a potential acuity meter that tells what vision will be without cataracts. Also, he has an opacity meter that measures density of lenses. There are only eight in the U.S.

Fried has a machine that takes a picture of the corneal endothelium cells that keep the cornea clear. If a patient has had eye surgery, additional surgery could be dangerous. This machine tells how safe surgery will be for the cornea. This lets Dr. Fried know if he needs to change his surgical technique to protect the cornea.

The results of his expertise show up in his collection of "Thank You" cards from his patients.

Catalog to display state-made gifts

State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) has announced that a "Made in Illinois" gift catalog is being organized to promote small producers in Illinois and introduce Illinois products to a larger market.

Only 100 businesses will be accepted as advertisers in the 50-page color gift guide. Applicants must be Illinois small businesses that offer a gift-type product deriving over 50 percent of its value from Illinois materials and labor.

"This catalog is a great way to promote the many outstanding products produced here in Illinois. This also gives small businesses the chance to join with others and market their products statewide in an attractive, color catalog, which may be too expensive for them to do alone," Geo-Karis said. "I think this is an excellent opportunity for the many fine businesses in Illinois and our entire state."

Each ad entry is $200, which allows each advertiser to display two or three different products as well as business contact information. At least 30,000 copies will be printed and distributed statewide. A search for corporate sponsors is underway to underwrite a second printing to allow a larger distribution area. Design, printing and distribution of the catalogs will be coordinated in Springfield.

The catalog-being organized by The Illinois Dept. of Commerce and Community Affairs and Lura Lynn Ryan, wife of Lt. Gov. George Ryan-will consist of approximately 50 pages of color photos and relevant business information.

Applications may be obtained by calling (217) 782-3285 or mailing a request to Illinois Gift Guide, Office of Lt. Governor, 214 State Capitol, Springfield, Ill., 62706.

Rotary, Baxter work to wipe out global polio

As of Saturday, Jan. 30, some 5.5 million Mexican children will no longer need to worry about the threat of polio.

Rotary International's PolioPlus program is supplying Mexico with enough vaccine to immunize all unvaccinated children under the age of five, with the aid of a $250,000 grant from the Baxter Foundation, Baxter Healthcare Corp.'s non-profit charitable organization. The vaccine was given at more than 10,000 sites during Mexico's National Vaccination Day. Follow-up vaccines will be given March 19.

Although vaccines against polio have been available for 30 years, paralytic polio continues to attack at least 250,000 children each year worldwide, killing more than 25,000. The PolioPlus program has vowed to wipe out polio before the year 2005.

"It costs only 12 cents to immunize a child against polio. It's one area where an investment in health care can produce an incalculable benefit," said G. Marshall Abbey, president of the Baxter Foundation.

Mexico wasn't the only country receiving the free polio vaccine. Rotary has designated funds for immunization projects in 63 countries, from Argentina to Zimbabwe.

"Many people assume that polio is a disease of the past," said Jack Blane, Rotary's PolioPlus international executive coordinator. "Unfortunately, half of the children born in developing countries are not adequately immunized against the devastating disease."

"That's why the Baxter Foundation's gift, the first major corporate donation to the PolioPlus program, is so important," he said.

Illinois to join effort to aid Chrysler workers

Lake County Board Chairman Jim Fields announced that the Illinois Dept. of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) is seeking to arrange a joint meeting with Wisconsin state officials in an effort to map out a strategy to assist workers who are scheduled to be laid off from Chrysler's Kenosha assembly plant.

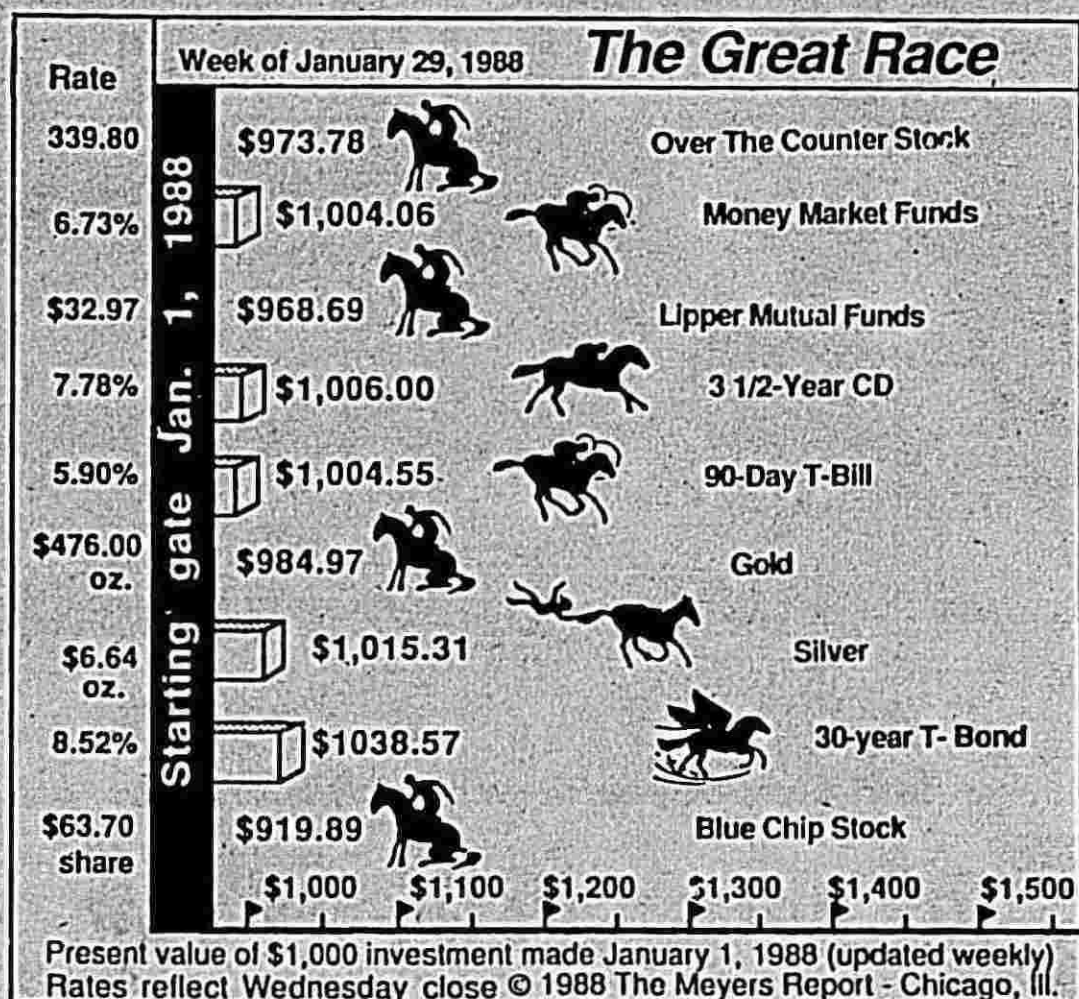

At the heart of any strategy, according to Fields, should be a joint Illinois-Wisconsin application to the U.S. Dept. of Labor for Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) Title III discretionary funds for retraining the 5,500 workers targeted for layoff.

Fields noted that while Wisconsin would probably be the lead agency in any such program, Illinois must be heavily involved because some 35 percent of the affected workers live in northeastern Illinois.

"Our Lake County Private Industry Council (PIC) will be ready to help in any program hammered out by the state authorities," said Fields. "Our PIC has had an exemplary record in conducting worker retraining programs during the past several years."

"Lake County residents who are destined for lay off can be assured that any retraining assistance that might be forthcoming from the Federal and State governments, Lake County PIC will be working diligently on their behalf," Fields continued. "This is exactly the kind of situation that was envisioned when JTPA was passed by Congress."

Lay offs at the Kenosha Chrysler plant, announced Jan. 27, are scheduled to begin in July and continue through September to coincide with the end of the 1988 Chrysler production cycle.

Planning your own funeral can be smart step to take

by GARY S. MEYERS

The sad truth is: if you leave your funeral plans to your survivors, you may not get what you want and they may be buried in bills.

While planning your funeral, also plan how the bill will be paid to avoid burdening your loved ones. The average funeral today costs $2,900, according to the National Funeral Directors Assn., but prices vary wildly. To avoid trouble later, more and more Americans are planning and even paying for their own funerals.

One way to pre-pay is to deposit money in a trust account. Today, more than 4.5 million Americans have a combined $9 billion in trust to pay for their funerals.

The procedure for setting up a trust is relatively simple. You buy a funeral in advance from a funeral home for a guaranteed price. Your money is placed in an interest-bearing escrow account at a bank or savings & loan, in your name. The funeral home agrees that interest earned by the trust will cover any increased costs.

If you are ever unhappy with the funeral home or if they go out of business, the money is yours because it is in your name.

But be careful. In some states if you move or at any time change your mind about the service or become dissatisfied with the funeral home, you won't lose your money, but—like an early withdrawal penalty on a certificate of deposit—you may lose the interest earned on your money.

"People have a right to change their minds, but in some states buyers are left to watch out for themselves," warned Thomas Kearns III, who teaches an adult education class in New York on pre-arranging funerals. "New York state is a 100 percent trust (account) state, so consumers can't lose a dime. Know how your state laws regulate funeral directors," said Kearns, president of Leo Kearns Funeral Homes Inc. "At the least, make sure that your interest penalty is limited if you move."

Of course, you can set aside the money for your funeral in a bank account or insurance policy instead. You'll earn interest at no risk, but this option takes self-discipline.

Pre-planning your funeral also helps avoid fraud. Funeral home directors generally receive high marks for honest and ethical standards in consumer polls. However, there are crooked funeral directors, just as there are dishonest people in any profession.

If you feel you have been overcharged for funeral services, the National Funeral Directors Assn. may be able to help. Write to the Funeral Service Arbitration Program at P.O. Box 382, Convent Station, N.J. 07961.

Consumers also can find protection from fraud through plans set up by a memorial society. To find the memorial society nearest you, call the Continental Assn. of Funeral and Memorial Societies in Washington, D.C., at (202) 462-8888.

Memorial societies keep a record of your last wishes for a small annual fee, usually $25 to $35. When you die the society helps carry out your plan for a simple burial or cremation. Memorial societies are not affiliated with any religious group.

If you want a religious service, most denominations offer pre-arranged funeral packages through local funeral homes.

The low-cost alternative of ceremonies without a funeral director's services also are gaining popularity. A licensed funeral director is needed only to sign and file the death certificate, and, in some states, to be present at the burial.

Here are some suggestions:

—The best time to arrange your funeral is after you have settled in an area permanently.

—Make sure you have a grave plot.

—Don't let other people arrange the funeral for you. What they plan often is not what you wanted.

—But, don't make decisions by yourself, either. Find out what your family would like and consult your minister, priest or rabbi. "Services are for the survivors, and it's very important that they give input about the funeral," said Kearns.

—As with any important purchase, don't purchase cemetery space without seeing it.

—Make arrangements clear to the family or the executor of the estate. If no one knows that the service was planned, or that funeral expense money was set aside in a trust, you might as well never have planned it at all.

—Check with several funeral homes, as well as a member of your local memorial society to help you decide which ceremony is best for you.

Lakeland cruise to take in three exotic Mexican ports

by MARY AND DENNIS O'BRIEN

The good ship Stardancer, flagship of Admiral Cruise Lines, and the 10th largest cruise vessel afloat, will be the palatial headquarters for a seven-day Pacific Cruise sponsored by Lakeland Newspapers to introduce its new travel page.

Destinations for Stardancer and her

Lakeland readers after a May 14 departure will be the Mexican Riviera resorts of Mazatlan, the beautiful port at the foot of the rugged Sierra Madre mountains, Cabo San Lucas where the Sea of Cortez meets the Pacific Ocean, and the tropical paradise of Puerto Vallarta, all three along Mexico's exotic Pacific Coast.

Aboard ship, there will be dancing in the disco or under moonlit skies, swimming in the pool or working out in the complete exercise room, dining on sumptuous gourmet meals served by red-coated waiters or sipping Margaritas while watching a school of dolphins play tag with the ship.

When day is done, there's your cabin with plenty of room to unwind, with radio, tv, phone and private bath and shower, plus special touches like a basket of fruit and a tuck-in mint on the pillow every night.

During exciting visits to Mexican ports, you can swim and sun on some of the whitest, most magnificent beaches anywhere in the world, shop in the famous bargain boutiques of Puerto Vallarta, or sample giant shrimp and authentic Mexican food while serenaded by a Mariachi band.

Best news of all: One low price will include round trip airfare between Chicago and Los Angeles, the Stardancer's home port, all transportation from airport to ship, and all meals and shipboard activities.

For a full color, 24-page brochure and information on an unforgettable cruise at an unforgettable price, call the Lakeland Cruise Desk at (312) 948-9116.

Hotel offers scenic views

Now's the time to view the winter migration of gray whales off the coast of California. Or zip down to Capistrano on March 19 to witness the return of the swallows.

You can do it from a hotel room at the Ritz-Carlton Laguna Niguel, which is perched high on a bluff overlooking the Pacific. Situated halfway between Los Angeles and San Diego, the hotel is within easy driving distance of most of the myriad sights and delights of southern California.

Only three and a half years old, the five-star luxury resort offers a choice selection of facilities, including tennis courts with a teaching pro, a fitness center, two swimming pools and an adjacent Robert Trent Jones designed golf course. The lobby, halls and public areas contain a splendid collection of museum quality works of art.

When we asked General Manager Henry Schielein whether he worried about thievery, he told us, "The kind of people who stay here wouldn't dream of stealing anything."

New travel team

Bringing news about travel are Lakeland Newspapers' new travel writer and photo team, Dennis and Mary O'Brien, whose headquarters are in Vernon Hills. Their articles and photographs have appeared over the past 10 years in major magazines and newspapers in the United States and Canada.

Take dollar south for good bargains

Mexico has wide, white beaches, bright bougainvillea, and smiling, friendly people; but besides all that, you'll find that your dollar goes farther south of the border.

Against Mexico's peso, the dollar is a giant. While George Washington's picture buys less and less most places in the world, it gets stronger in relation to the peso.

Even at major resorts like Mazatlan and Puerto Vallarta, where "tourist" prices are in effect, visitors will find restaurant and drink prices are reasonable by U.S. standards—though few Mexicans can afford them.

If you choose to ride a public bus from one end of town to the other, you can do so for about 50 pesos (the equivalent of 20 U.S. cents).

Because the dollar is so powerful, there are real bargains to be had in the local markets for such things as woven blankets, pottery, blouses, leather goods and gold and silver jewelry.

Another way of making the dollar go further in Mexico is to use charge cards to pay bills in pesos in restaurants and shops. The theory is that the peso will be worth even less by the time you get home. So it will take fewer dollars to pay the bill when it is presented to the credit card company for payment.

Belgium topic at library

Belgium native Simone DeBalva will present a program on that country from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 13, in the Fort Hill meeting room of the Fremont Public Library.

DeBalva will present the culture, music and flavor of her native land during the free presentation. The library is located at 470 N. Lake St. in Mundelein.

Don't forget the cards

A family vacation can mean long waits in airports, hours of travel across boring landscapes, and rainy afternoons in a motel room. To keep the family happily occupied during these lulls, carry along card games. Bring a variety the whole family can play. Carry them in a purse or tote bag, not in luggage, so they'll be handy when waiting for a delayed flight or driving for a long stretch. Tuck away one or two surprise games that you don't bring out until the vacation is half over; they'll add welcome variety. Schedule a card game at about the same time each night. Since normal routines are upset when traveling, a nightly family game hour will add structure to the vacation.

Cruise The Mexican Riviera at a special low group price with Lakeland Newspapers

Join us on MAY 14, aboard Admiral Cruises' big, new STARDANCER, sailing from Los Angeles to the resort paradise of Puerto Vallarta, exciting Mazatlán, and the incredible natural splendor of Cabo San Lucas on a glorious 7-night cruise.

Enjoy Mexican bargains, beautiful beaches, Mariachi music, great food and friendly people.

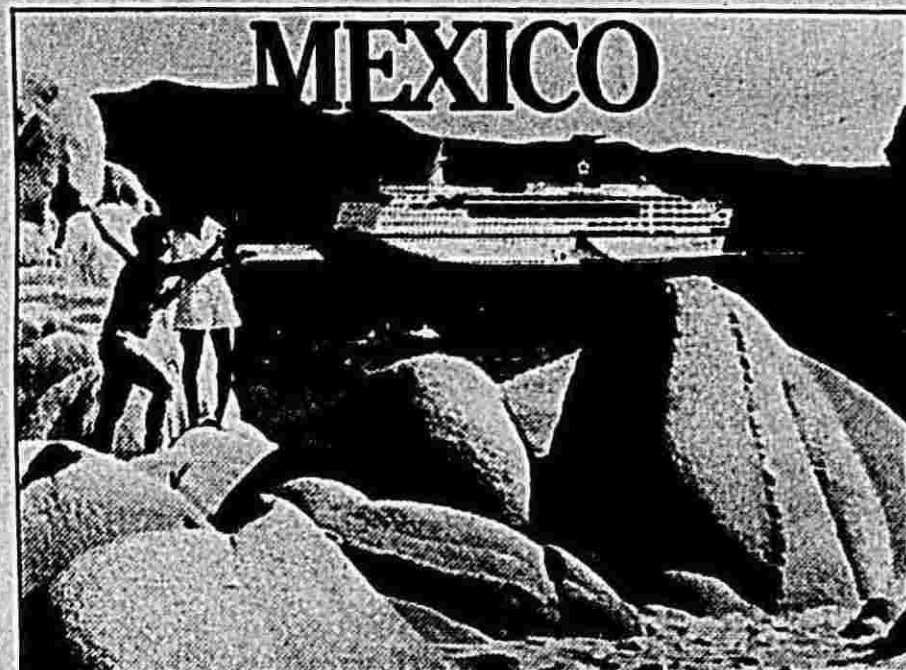

Your low group rate includes round-trip air fare from O'Hare.

Good taste

How about that! Valentinos Ristorante on Milwaukee Ave., Northbrook, is doing its namesake's holiday up big! Not only will they be giving all visiting ladies a red carnation on Feb. 14 but, featuring "Love At First Bite," there will be also be heart-shaped pizza and pasta for eating in or taking out.

Many restaurants are featuring specials for "early bird" diners. At J. B. Winberie's on Lake Cook Rd. in Buffalo Grove, the Sundowner Specials features some of the dinner menu at 25 percent off if ordered between 4 and 6:30 p.m.

Another perfect place to take one's sweetheart on Valentine's Day or the evening before is the Red Geranium in Lake Geneva. It's so intimate and the decor's color combination is so right for that holiday. P. S. the foods good too.

Don't cry, Argentina!

The stars of the Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre's new musical offering, "Evita," in rear, Kurt Johns, as Che, Dale Morgan as Juan Peron, and center, Eva Peron herself played by Paula Scrofano, lead the rest of a competent cast in Marriott's season starter.

Evita moves into Marriott Theatre

by GLORIA DAVIS

Director Dominic Missimi and his artistic staff headed by Dyanne Earley, Thomas Ryan and Nancy Missimi, have added a distinctly new aura to the hit musical "Evita," just opening at the Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre.

The result is an almost all black and white starkness that permeates the production and creates an authentic

Marriott favorite, Kurt Johns, who is reportedly heading for Broadway soon, is an agile Che, playing the role a bit too glibly and lightly. As usual his fine voice stands him in good stead in numbers like "Oh What a Circus" and "High Flying Adored."

Dale Morgan brings his most competent portrayal of Peron across town from Candelight and Robyn Peterman does a good cameo job on "Another Suitcase in Another Hall."

The scene stealers in this one are "The Company" who highlight every scene they appear in as the all-in-unison

Argentinian society or the dictator's perfectly synchronized "wooden" soldiers.

This is not for the tired businessman that wants some laughs and lots of legs. In fact the leading lady looks believably bad as she dies make-up less in a putrid green dressing gown.

This scene is highlighted with a new bit of special effects when the death bed is boxed in by black and white flicks of Eva's life, loves and conquests.

The choral renditions of "Requiem for Evita" and "Santa Evita" are memorable.

Critic's Choice In...
Lakeland

Pre-World War II atmosphere.

It would be hard to miss with the powerful story of Eva Peron enanced by a musical score that is just as powerful, and Marriott doesn't.

For Theatergoers that have never experienced "Evita," this production is a must. Those who have, will find Kary Walker's production well worth seeing despite its few weak points.

Paula Scrofano, who plays the title role, is at her best as the avenging first lady of Argentina, doing a great bit of dramatic emoting in the famous white strapless scene.

I've always wondered why some director hasn't incorporated the non-existent duet with Che in that scene that appeared on nationwide television commercials for the first Broadway production, successfully drawing thousands to the show.

Scrofano, locally well-known for her Natalie Wood-Kathryn Grayson roles, doesn't quite make the crossover during the trollopy early years of Eva's leap from bed to bed until she lands in one belonging to Juan Peron, the president of Argentina.

Her soliciting sometimes resembles a peasant girl's shy flirting.

Carmel's 'South Pacific' rehearsals in full swing

Rehearsals are underway for the spring musical production at Carmel High School in Mundelein. The Pulitzer Prize-winning "South Pacific" will be presented in the Carmel High School auditorium on April 21, 22 and 23 at 8 p.m. and on Sunday, April 24, at 2 p.m.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $4 for senior citizens and students. All seats are reserved and tickets may be purchased by calling Carmel High School at (312)566-8440.

Adapted from James Michener's "Tales of the South Pacific," the musical takes place on a South Sea island during World War II. Cast as Nellie Forbush, a young Navy nurse, are Jenny Hilliard and Jackie Bond.

The middle-aged Frenchman who is attracted to Nellie, Emile DeBecque, will be played by Eric Bodo and Jim Seitz. Playing the unforgettable role of Bloody Mary will be Angie Rivelli and Joyce Thompson.

Arriving on the island with an assignment to persuade Emile DeBecque to accompany him on a secret mission is Lt. Joseph Daniel Galo.

Their task is to hide out on a Japanese-held island, watch for enemy ships and convey this information to their own pilots, who will then use the intelligence to attack the Japanese convoys.

Nellie is asked to obtain all the information she can about the Frenchman and then pass it on to the island's commander.

Meanwhile, Joe Cable is persuaded to take a trip to the mysterious island of Bali Ha'i where he meets Liat, Bloody Mary's beautiful daughter.

Kristine Swift and Lori van Erden has been double-cast as Liat. The remainder of the show deals with the involved relationships between Emile and Nellie and between Joe and Liat.

The show will be directed by Elizabeth Kurowski and Kenneth Smouse. Choreographer will be Donna Pederson.

La Cage packs them in Current Candelight Dinner Theatre production of "La Cage aux Folles" is one of Chicago area's most popular theatrical draws. Jim Harnes, center, as Zaza, with Les Cagelles, stars in Tony Award musical which is reportedly packing audiences in.

Park schedules Barn Dance

An old time, traditional barn dance, the Valentine's Barn Dance, will be held 7:30 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 13, at the Grayslake Park Dist. Building, 32 S. Seymour in downtown Grayslake.

There will be a free lesson preceding the dance from 7 to 7:30 p.m.

Live music will be provided by Ron Brown on fiddle and his wife Sandy on guitar while the old time dances will be called by "Uncle" Roy Reinholds. They will play old time tunes that have been danced to by Americans of yesteryear at grange halls, old barns and big city lodge halls and ballrooms.

This is the fifth in the current series of old time barn dances presented the second Saturday of the month. The next dance will be the Spring Hoedown on March 12. The admission for each dance is $3 per person. The lessons are free.

The park district building is located just west of the Soo Line Railroad tracks and one-half block south of Center St., in downtown Grayslake. For more information about barn dancing, call Uncle Roy, (312) 223-2081.

Matchmaker Cupid says true love is 'crock'

by BILL DOTSON

In honor of Valentine's Day, Cupid, that famous mythical matchmaker, has granted Lakeland Newspapers an exclusive interview. Currently traveling to promote his new book, entitled "Love Means Nothing In More Than Just Tennis," he agreed to take some time to discuss his insights on the subjects of love, romance, dating, sex and laundry.

Lakeland: Valentine's Day, the day set aside each year for the celebration of love, is upon us. What can you tell us about love?

Cupid: Well, to put it simply- it's a crock.

Lakeland: Beg your pardon?

Cupid: Love, ha! You want to talk myths? There's a myth for you!...I don't believe true love exists. Does that surprise you?

Lakeland: Well, it's certainly not the sort of answer one would expect from the son of Venus, the goddess of love.

Cupid: Ah, Mom was always looking at the world through rose-colored glasses. When Dad ran off with that cheerleader from the coliseum, she said he'd come home someday, it was just a phase he was going through. I told her, 'Mom, wake up and smell the nectar! Dad is history!' She'd never listen to me, though.

Of course, I guess I can understand why. She had an image to live up to with that "goddess of love" nonsense.

Lakeland: Nonsense? You represent the same ideals she does! People depend on you to make sure that true love does exist; that people can still live "happily ever after" in this world!

Cupid: Oh, come off it, nobody depends on me anymore! I went out of style with disco and mood rings! These days, it's a different game than it used to be. Now, there's computer dating services, Match Mates classified ads, health clubs, Dr. Ruth, and "Love Connection!" I mean, who needs me when they can have Chuck Woolery, right?! Everybody's moving in on my turf and, frankly, I'm mad as heck and I'm not going to take it anymore!

Lakeland: So what are you going to do?

Cupid: Retire.

Lakeland: What? You're throwing in the towel just like that?

Cupid: Look, I tried to fit into this modern world. But there's no place for me anymore. Heck, it's gotten so I can't even get a date myself anymore!

Lakeland: Not even you? What's the world coming to?

Cupid: Yeah, it's true. I've been used, abused, and cast aside like an old sock that's no good anymore because its mate disappeared from the laundry basket, even though you'd swear you took them both out of the dryer together. But you'll never find it again because its gone to sock limbo. So you throw the other one away because what good is one sock, anyway? Even if-

Lakeland: Excuse me, but what does this have to do with anything?

Cupid: I don't know, but it sounded like it was going to be a good analogy when I started, didn't it? In any case, nobody's interested anymore in a kid who flies around nude, shooting arrows at people. It's times like these that make me think I should have listened to what my mother told me about love.

Lakeland: What did she tell you?

Cupid: I don't know, I didn't listen! But maybe if I had, I wouldn't have these problems. The bottom line: The world today looks at love very differently than I do. Sure, I could probably give that short German lady a run for her money if I went commercial, too. But that's not for me. And like what's-his-face said, 'This above all, to thine own self be true.' So I'm going to quietly fade away. But who knows, maybe I'll come back someday.

Lakeland: Well, before you go, isn't there ANY wise, deep, philosophical insight you can give us about the meaning of love? Any at all?

Cupid: Oh, alright, I hate to disappoint you. How's this- Love means never having to say you're sorry.

Lakeland: Uh, that was used already.

Cupid: Ah, darn it, I was hoping you wouldn't remember that silly movie!

Lakeland: Whatever happened to Ali MacGraw, anyway?

Cupid: Who knows? She probably works for Chuck Woolery. So, okay, how's this- Love...If only it could talk, the things it would say.

Lakeland: That is really dumb.

Cupid: OK, so I'm no Elizabeth Barrett Browning! Give me a break, will you?! And by the way, watch who your're calling mythical, I don't go around calling you names, do I?!

Baby Movie Number 3 falls short of delivery

✓ Bill Dotson

□ YES
☑ NO

"WAAAAHHHH!!!"
That is the most memorable line of dialogue in "For Keeps", the 3rd entry in the current wave of baby movies (which began with "Baby Boom" and "3 Men And A Baby") and this one is such a mess that the baby has good reason to cry because it should have been much better than it is, considering the talented people involved.

It was directed by John Avildsen, the director of "Rocky" and "The Karate Kid". The story was written by Tim Kazurinsky and Denise DeClue, who wrote the outstanding "About Last Night", which seemed a very realistic portrayal of the singles scene.

The problem with "For Keeps" is that the movie itself is a baby. There are ideas here that suggest how much better it could have been if those ideas had been nurtured and given time to grow and mature before being thrown on the screen.

Molly Ringwald and Randall Batinkoff star as the teenage lovers whose idealistic innocence and devotion to each other seems believable and refreshing. Early in the film they do a good job of conveying that good-natured intimacy that can be found only between people really in love. It might have worked as simply a love story.

But after Ringwald becomes pregnant, the scenes which call for them to argue with each other and their parents are where it falls apart. The yelling they all do at each other gets tiresome. The parents are flat, boring characters, especially Batinkoff's father whose lines that are supposed to be funny are bombs of nuclear proportion. And if I see ONE more obnoxious kid sister who uses words like "post-partum depression" I will shoot holes in the screen!

The worst offense committed by this movie is the way the big problem facing the young couple- what to do about college- is suddenly solved in one quick throwaway line of dialogue at the end that you might miss if you weren't listening closely. (And who was?)

If you haven't had enough of this baby stuff yet, don't worry. "She's Having A Baby", directed by John Hughes, Ringwald's partner for 3 movies, is due to be released soon. Why not just save everyone a lot of time and money by combining all these films into one movie and calling it something like "3 Men Having A Baby Boom For Keeps?"

"For Keeps" should have been "For-Gotten"

✓ Dan Becker

□ YES
☑ NO

★ ½

"For Keeps", a movie which scrapes along the moral boundaries of teenage pregnancy, is bad enough to give anyone morning sickness. Of the 20,000 teenagers who get pregnant each week, it's unfortunate that Tri-Star, Inc. couldn't find a better story than this one. "For Keeps" should have been "Forgotten".

The movie centers around two high school seniors from Kenosha that fall in love, make love, fall out of love, fall back into love. Original, isn't it? As an added feature, the couple has a baby which throws their life into a mess. Instead of spending $5.50 on a movie ticket, anyone could have seen the same thing at a local youth service agency for free.

Molly Ringwald, who continually plays the same type of character, portrays the pregnant and, later, post-partum depressed Darcy Elliot. Elliot is coupled with Stan Bobrucz, played by Randall Batinkoff.

During a trip to the University of Wisconsin-Madison, Elliot and Bobrucz make a few "stops" along the way. During one of these stops, Elliot somehow "gets pregnant". Two months later, at a Thanksgiving dinner with the Elliots and Bobruczs, Elliot says in one quick breath "I'm pregnant, please pass the turnips." A family debate ensues whether the baby should be given up for adoption, aborted, or kept.

At a Christmas gathering, the couple decides to keep the baby. The parents blame each other for the teenagers' actions, the adolescents speak their minds, and get kicked out of their respective homes.

Ringwald's only believable portrayal is when Darcy gives birth. The screaming and pain Darcy shows made much of the audience double over in empathy. Batinkoff's only noteworthy performance is when Stan pounds upon the door of the Elliot home, as he tries to tell Darcy he loves her after they had split up for a while. Otherwise, the film was a waste of time for Ringwald, Batinkoff and the audience.

Too much insignificant material is thrown at the audience, and the film goes nowhere. If the film were more centered, it could have been worth watching on cable. At least the option of turning the channel would be there.

The film's statement sounds like something like a surgeon general's warning: Teenage sex may cause problems in your life.

Third baby movie

Randall Batinkoff co-stars with Molly Ringwald in "For Keeps", the third in a succession of baby movies playing at theatres this winter. They play teenage lovers whose big future plans are upset when they are suddenly faced with the prospect of having a baby.

Ball to benefit medical care

The Second Annual Sweetheart Ball, sponsored by the Assistance in Healthcare Foundation, will be presented on Saturday, Feb. 13, at the Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth.

All proceeds from the ball will benefit the Assistance in Healthcare Foundation, a not-for-profit charity affiliated with American International Hospital (AIH) in Zion.

The foundation provides economic support for patients burdened by the high cost of medical care by providing travel to and from the hospital, overnight accommodations for patients' family members, childcare, telephone and other household bills.

The black-tie optional event starts with cocktails at 6:30 p.m. Dinner starts at 7:30 p.m. The Brian Patti Orchestra will provide music for dancing following dinner.

Ticket price is $35 per person and may be purchased from foundation members. Ticket cost is tax deductible. To purchase tickets or for more information, call Maibeth Raper, foundation president, at (312) 746-8600.

Local artists part of watercolor guild, show sites vary

Richard Nichols, regionally known artist from Glendale Heights, demonstrated his unique style of painting at the Jan. 28 meeting of the Lakes Region Watercolor Guild, held in the Grayslake Community Room.

Nichols, who attended the American Academy of Art in Chicago, gives an exciting, fresh approach to watercolor, an inspiration to his audiences and pupils.

The guild, presently showing at the Wauconda Library, continues to maintain a busy and interesting variety of events, with artist members involved in individual and group shows.

The paintings of Bradley Sauder, Mike Gross, Mary Mooney, Mary Lacey, Jeanette White, Carol Sackschewsky and Jean Korell can be viewed at the library.

Barney Wanagas, who teaches classes at his home in Twin Lakes, Wis., has a one-man display at the Lake Geneva Library, as well as paintings at the Millburn Gallery.

Lacey of Mundelein is displaying her paintings at the First National Bank of Antioch, and Margaret Salem of Lake Zurich is currently exhibiting both watercolors and oils at the Waukegan Courthouse.

Both Pat Wylie of Lake

Forest and Carol Sackschewsky of Antioch were accepted into the "Flora" exhibit at the Chicago Botanic Garden, which runs through March 5.

Wylie had a showing of "Village" paintings at Cook Memorial Library in Libertyville during January, while Sackschewsky's one-person show is exhibited at the Fremont Public Library in Mundelein.

Several members were juried into the David Adler Cultural Center's Rotating Gallery at Libertyville. These include Janice Metzger, Phyllis Boger, White, Sauder, Sackschewsky and Ginny Woltzen.

Plans are underway for a one-day workshop in May to be led by nationally famous artist Irving Shapiro, a teacher and former director of the American Academy. For further information, call (312) 526-3354.

Rock Tracks

Strange how you can hear a record the first time and know you're going to be hearing it a lot more, both on the radio and your own turntable. Journey, Foreigner, Loverboy — these and few other great rock/pop bands gave you that strange, knowing sensation on their first record, and so it is now with Native Sons by Strangeways. Right from the first drum beat, the first guitar lick and keyboard chord, and most of all, the first voicing from lead singer Terry Brock, you know you're witnessing the stellar U.S. debut of a Scottish band which you'll be hearing plenty of in the months to come.

Even a cursory listening of Native Sons suggests that such a deal might well satisfy both parties. The opening cut "Dance" directly establishes the Strangeways trademark — knife-edge vocals, jolting pop melodies, and vivid observations, which here change a common dance-floor partnering into a palpable event shared by all. Second track and first single "Only A Fool" shifts from blazing fire to slow simmer in its sweetly melancholic, exquisitely tuneful remonstrance on turning one's back on love. "So Far Away" then blends both the hard and softer aspects of Strangeways' music, bridging the sometimes vast distance between those who were once closest. "Where Do We Go From Here?" while covering similar ground, does so in a rockier vein, thanks to the propulsive drumming of Jim Drummond and incisive guitar break by Ian Stewart.

Aside from the quality of these songs, what really stands out after a brief listening is that it all sounds so American. No doubt some of this is due to the fact that the newly-acquired Brock hails from the good ol' U.S.A., where he has recorded on numerous albums by the varied likes of Kansas, Molly Hatchet, and Johnny Van Zant. It is understandable that the other members are anxious for the album's stateside release.

Square to Valentines celebrate

The Valentine's Barn Dance will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 13, at the park district building, 32 S. Seymour in downtown Grayslake.

The remaining dances in the series are: March 12, Spring Hoedown and April 9, Last Chance Barn Dance (till fall).

There will be live music by Ron Brown on fiddle and his wife Sandy on guitar while the old time dances will be called by "Uncle" Roy Everyone with or without square dancing experience is welcome. When needed, the old time dances and figures will be walked through before dancing. In addition, free lessons will be held at 7 p.m. just before the dance.

Barn dancing differs from modern "mainstream" and "plus" square dancing in that there is always live music at barn dances and the dances are traditional. Costume is not important.

The park district building is located just half block south of Center Street, in downtown Grayslake. The admission is $3 a person.

For more information about barn dancing call Uncle Roy, (312) 223-2081.

Bluegrass music will grow at Opera House

On Friday, Feb. 5 at 8 p.m. and on Saturday, Feb. 6 at 2 and 8 p.m., the Woodstock Opera House will present Special Consensus, a bluegrass group in their standard repertoire of traditional bluegrass music, original compositions and songs by other contemporary artists.

Special Consensus presents traditional bluegrass standards (songs by Flatt and Scruggs, Bill Monroe, Jim and Jesse, etc.), original compositions (such as "Rusty Railroad Track") and songs by contemporary artists from other music genres (such as Allman Brothers' "Ramblin' Man").

Special Consensus is a four-person acoustic bluegrass band that has been performing in the midwest since 1975. The first band album, "Special Consensus Bluegrass," was released in 1979 when the band began touring on a held at the Holidome in Springfield as part of the annual meeting of the Illinois Assn. of Agricultural Fairs.

Beth Blockinger, Kristen Hall, Katie Metcalf, Tami Weber and Jamie Wegener, who make up the "Splash of America" act, range in age from 10 to 13 and are all students at Kim Kalla's Studio of Dance in Lake Villa.

Listed as a "novelty dance," their routine combines a variety of dance types including tap, acrobatics and a unique pom pon sequence. The act features red, white and blue costumes and ends with a big finish that includes an over the head acrobatic lift and pose.

"The girls were nothing less than sensational," according to Kirk Player founder-director John Lynn, who directs the county fair talent contests and accompanied the act to Springfield.

"The quality of the competition was incredible and our girls responded beautifully to the pressure and hit their performance right on. I don't think they could have done any better."

Dina Moore, 15, and Patricia Potter, 17, of Lake Zurich, the Jazz Duet that represented Lake County in the senior division, performed very well, according to Lynn, but did not place among the top five.

Four of the top five winners in the senior division were singers and the other was a Woodwind Quintet, which placed third.

"I was extremely proud of all our young ladies as were the parents and friends who made the trip to support them," said Lynn. "They all represented Lake County well."

Don't travel Europe without visiting Malta

by JIM WARNKEN

President, North Star Travel Inc.

Temples dating back to 5,000 years before the birth of Christ. Unexplainable "cart tracks" leading into the sea. Prehistoric cave-like tombs. Miles of catacombs from Roman times. Where is this fascinating land?

It's an island in the Mediterranean about 60 miles south of Sicily. It's called Malta.

You say you haven't heard of Malta? Ever heard of the Maltese falcon from the old Bogart movie? Then there's the Maltese cross which for some reason is popular among bikers. (The falcon was a token payment for the use of the island as a home for the Knights of the Order of St. John, the cross was a symbol of the knights with its eight points representing the eight homelands of the order.)

But does Malta have white sand beaches and sunny skies? Sure. In fact it is a top vacation spot for Europeans. If anybody remembers the movie "Popeye" with Robin Williams, they would have seen the clear blue waters surrounding Malta.

However, it's not the beaches or the climate that attracted me to Malta. I'd suggest the Bahamas or Hawaii if that's what you are looking for. Instead, it's Malta's rich and colorful history which is everywhere on the island.

The government buildings in use today date back to the 14th century. Life in walled cities a thousand years old is as it was in 900 A.D. For 35 cents a Maltese family will let you tour some catacombs they discovered while digging a cistern under their house.

Due to her strategic location, Malta has been inhabited by many nationalities. Each has left some remembrance. My stay in Malta was more educational than Mrs. Topping's history class in high school ever was!

A trip to Malta would be a worthwhile addition to any European vacation. By the way, the most recent nation to rule Malta was England. The good part of that is the language most spoken is English. The bad, they drive on the left!

A night at the Funny Bone could be a rib cracker

by DAN BECKER

Pack up all your cares and woes, and get yourself over to the Funny Bone comedy club in Schaumburg. Once the comedy starts, you couldn't care less if you've been dropped by your insurance company or if your mother had just been arrested for smuggling illegal drugs.

Funny Bone provides young, upstart comedians with a professional atmosphere and presents the audience with the same courtesy.

straight about how he felt.

"I was told I was going to be working in Chicago. I'm in Schaumburg. This stinks," Flannery said.

Flannery, always looking to take the easy way out, told the audience one way to spend less when attending a wedding.

"What I always do is buy a nice card, stick it in the envelope, and when nobody is looking, I take a piece of cellophane tape, stick part of it onto a gift, and rip it off real quick. Then I stick the tape to my card so it looks like the top. 'I must have liked that song a lot,' you say."

"You know you had a real bad night when you start up the car the next morning and the radio is cranked up to the top, and there is nothing but static. 'Aw man, I wasn't listening to that all the way home, was I,'" McGrew ended.

Each comedian's talent reaches the spectrum of the entire audience. Jokes about getting older, what somebody did to his younger sister, and how to pick up women applied to almost everyone.

Spend a night at the Funny Bone, and you'll end up cracking a rib from laughing.

Critic's Choice In... Lakeland

Acting as a "warm-up" for Steve McGrew and Mike Flannery, Stew Oleson sets the audience straight about what kind of evening it is going to be. Comedian-at-law Oleson, eases the audience into a sense of welcome. "So, is anybody here from out of town," Oleson asks. "Yeah, Streamwood," someone replied. Oleson laughed, expecting a more suitable reply. "Streamwood, huh. I guess your on one of those Thompson vacations...four suburbs in three days. Quite exciting," Oleson ended.

After a brief stint about the two 500-year storms during the past year, Oleson comments on fishing for the "brown trout" in his basement. "You know, the brown trout...the hard stuff in sewage. I looked over at my wife as we were cleaning that stuff out of our basement, and said 'Look at this one honey, we could show this to the neighbors...in fact, it just might be from the neighbors.'"

With the crowd warmed up and ready for more, winner of cable network Showtime's "Funniest Person in Ohio Contest" Flannery, set the record it fell off one of the gifts. The best thing is that I usually get a thank you note from the couple," Flannery said.

The highlight of the evening was the Jack Daniels swigging, noise making Denver funnyman Steve McGrew. McGrew's act, as visual as it was verbal, threw the audience into hysterics.

C'mon tell me, we're all friends here," McGrew tells the certain members of the audience after asking them personal questions. McGrew, after stealing one of the audience member's wallet, started thumbing through it to see what was in there.

"My God, will you look at this picture of this guy," McGrew said showing the audience that person's drivers license. "Doesn't this face have 'child molester' written all over it?"

McGrew followed up with a monologue on drunk driving.

"Heck, sometimes you're on the road for about fifteen minutes and you realize, you're looking out the side window. But the next morning is worse. You get into your car, start it up, and that radio is cranked up all the way to

CLC to host art awards

Approximately 150 junior and senior high school artists will have their work chosen for display at the College of Lake County through the North Suburban Illinois Scholastic Art Awards.

The juried show will open Sunday, Feb. 14 at 1 p.m. and run through Feb. 27. Admission is free.

Entries were submitted by art teachers of students from nine counties in northern Illinois for regional judging and display in the college's Community Gallery of Art and atrium.

Judges will select 120 blue ribbon finalists who will go on to compete at the national level. The national judges will choose the winners of scholarships, gold medal awards and cash awards, with the prize-winning selections to be displayed at Scholastic Inc.'s annual national exhibition in New York.

For more information, call Steve Jones at (312)223-6601 ext. 240.

WKRS holds cook-off contest

WKRS-AM 1220 invites all to enter the WKRS Cook-Off. First place prize is a self-cleaning 30-inch gas range. All finalists will receive prizes. To enter, mail name and recipe on a postcard to: WKRS Cook-Off, 3250 Belvidere Rd., Waukegan, Ill. 60085. Beginning Feb. 8, Bob Thomas will read a name and recipe each weekday afternoon. That person will then have 12 minutes and 20 seconds to call (312)244-1220

Male Management 2000

Part I

Presented by Dr. Leah Pendarvis

A Questionnaire: For Women Only

He dumped you without warning.

He doesn't, can't, won't or chooses not to talk.

He forgets... (Fill in the blank with anything that's important to you.)

He's involved with another woman.

This workshop is for the woman who wants to feel good about herself without making the men in her life feel bad about themselves.

When: Friday, February 12, 1988, 7:30 p.m.

Where: Family Counseling Clinic, Inc.

Fee: $15.00

Call now to register (312) 223-8107 Limit 25

Family Counseling Clinic, Inc.

King outlines means for furthering 'the dream'

by AMANDA METZEL
Martin Luther King III is a firm believer in the political process.

King, the second of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s four children, urged an audience at the College of Lake County last week to become involved in politics at all levels, from high school student government elections to a concern for the world community. "Through politics, one can begin to make a great contribution," he declared.

Appearing as part of CLC's celebration of black history and culture, "Reflections: The Dream." The Reality," King bemoaned low voter turnout during general elections, "in spite of the fact that people died so we could have that precious right."

Although blacks have made progress in politics—nationwide, some 7,000 are in public office—only 1.5 percent of the black population are public officials, he said, and there are no black U.S. Senators or state governors. King maintained that blacks—including Presidential candidate Jesse Jackson—need to concentrate on gaining power at these levels before they strive for the presidency.

King is one of those in public office. He serves on his home county board, and has concentrated on local business and environmental issues. He appears to be unencumbered by the shadow of his great father, employing a more casual demeanor and fashioning his own path to leadership.

King reviewed the history of the black struggle for basic rights, from the 1857 Dred Scott decision through the 1965 march his father led from Selma to Montgomery and the subsequent passage of the Voting Rights Act.

"Those who do not remember their history are likely to repeat mistakes of their past," he said.

He maintains that slavery cut blacks off from their history and heritage, and that popular misconceptions of Africa as a wild, uncivilized continent have discouraged many from wanting to know about it.

"In our subconscious minds, we have a hatred of where we came from,"

King said. He believes that negative images presented by tv and American culture also condition blacks to hate themselves and each other. Even language works against them, he said.

"I was told as a child that a white lie was a little bit better than a black lie," he said. "We got a big job to do just to change the perceptions."

Another obstacle for blacks today, he said, is that they don't understand economics. Blacks annually spend $200 billion on products from corporations that don't put any money back into the black community, King said; and there are few black-owned companies producing, or even selling, such goods. "We spend with everyone who doesn't spend with us," he lamented.

"Gloria Vanderbilt jeans don't even fit our posteriors," he quipped.

in a comic mode he frequently uses to captivate attention before zeroing in on a point.

YMCA Day Feb. 14

The Lake County Family YMCA has designated Sunday, Feb. 14, as YMCA Sunday.

The Southside branch, 724 S. Genesee St. in Waukegan, will hold a Valentine's Day Open Bazaar/Trade Fair on Saturday, Feb. 13 from noon to 6 p.m. and on Sunday, Feb. 14, from 2 to 6 p.m. Booths are available to any small business or organization. Activities will include booths selling various types of merchandise and food, information booths, a kiddie carnival, talent show, fashion show, videos, gospel musical and an art exhibit featuring works by students and non-students. This event is free and open to all.

The new Lake County YMCA, 2000 Western Ave. in Waukegan, will also host an Open House/Reception on Sunday, Feb. 14 from noon to 4 p.m.

For more information and entry for a bazaar booth, call (312) 662-5093 or (312) 473-3355.

Carmel stars sign

Two Carmel football stars have given verbal commitments to Division I universities.

Running back Donell Foster has signed on at Illinois State University in Bloomington for the Redbirds. Foster terrorized the East Suburban Catholic Conference defenses during his stay at Carmel, which saw him make the all-conference team. Foster, a 5-11 175 pound back, is a North Chicago resident.

Carmel assistant football coach Joe Pudlo said Illinois State coaches expect Foster to see playing time for the Redbirds.

Jeff Zgonina, a 6-3, 240 pound defensive end and running back, signed a national letter of intent for Purdue University. Zgonina is a Long Grove resident.

Pudlo said Zgonina's choices boiled down to Illinois and Purdue but Zgonina chose Purdue because an Illinois assistant who recruited him took a position there.

Carmel finished 5-1 the last two years.

Lake County football standouts are expected to announce their selection of colleges within the next week or so.

At Grant, coach Mike Rogowski said last year's Northwest Suburban Conference Player of the Year, Kevin Frysak, has narrowed down his choices to Augustana and Illinois Wesleyan.

Coaching milestone

It was a surprise not only to the Libertyville Wildcats, but to Warren coach Darrel Bader as well.

As the final seconds ticked off in Warren's 61-37 win over the Wildcats, fans held up a sign congratulating Bader for win No. 200 in his career at Warren. They also gave him a standing ovation.

"The 200th win was special from the point of view of the student body, it was nice for me and my friends. But the real numbers that matter are 9-2 (Warren's record in the North Suburban Conference) and 11-1," Bader said the next night.

Bader started this season with a 187-100 record. He has notched three 20-win seasons and the Blue Devils are going for their second NSC title in three years. In 11 plus years at Warren, Bader has had only one losing season, back in 1979-80.

Furlans plans tourneys

Furlan's Dug Out Park in Trevor, Wis. is planning softball and volleyball tournaments for February.

On Feb. 5, 6 and 7, the park will host its 15th annual 16 inch softball tournament. The entry fee is $50. A first-place prize of $300 will be offered based on 16 entries.

The third tournament is a co-ed volleyball tournament Feb. 6 and 7. The tournament will feature a double elimination format and the entry fee will be $25.

Fourth, on Feb. 12 and 13 a co-ed 12 inch softball tournament will be the main attraction. The entry fee will be $10.

For more information, call (414) 862-9936 or (312) 395-5788.

Thinking spring

It may be the middle of winter, but Grant Twp. Little League officials are thinking spring.

The organization's registration will be Feb. 13, 14, 20 and 21 from noon to 3 p.m. at the Grant Twp. Hall.

Players should bring the following to registration: a notarized birth certificate, insurance policy name and number.

Here's the plan

Antioch, Mustangs both seeking momentum

Two teams coming into the basketball game off entirely different moods will be featured when Antioch travels to Mundelein for a North Suburban Conference clash Feb. 5.

Both teams come into the 7:30 p.m. contest with identical 7-11 overall records. But the Sequoias have the momentum in league play, coming into the contest with a 6-5 record in the NSC while the Mustangs are 4-7.

Antioch tipped Stevenson 56-53 to gain a better than .500 league record. Mundelein started last week on a bright note, beating Fenton 65-52 at home but then the Mustangs were humbled by Zion-Benton, who is in a tie for first place, 65-27.

"They are playing pretty good ball as of late. The key will be to keep the ball out of the middle. We have to control Anderson (Paul)," Mundelein Coach Dennis Kessel said.

For Antioch Coach Don Zeman, one important factor will be stopping Mundelein's outside shooting. The Mustangs' bread-and-butter all year has been the outside shot, led by guards J.T. Mathwig and Doug Sundell.

Against Stevenson, Antioch led for three quarters, 8-5 after one, 24-16 at halftime and 40-27 after three. But the Patriots rallied in the final quarter, outscoring the visitors 26-16. The rally reached its peak when Cleveland Tyson's bucket gave Stevenson a 51-50 lead with :50 left.

Antioch's Matt Pelland then responded with a key basket off a sharp pass from guard Mark Schuth to put the Sequoias ahead for good.

"Pelland was playing in his first start for us and he had seven of his nine points in the second half," Zeman said.

Antioch won the battle-of-the-boards 36-29 with Scott Gooch getting nine and Anderson seven.

Gooch led Antioch's attack with 15 points. Bill Letkey added 10 counters.

Tyson had 15 to lead Stevenson's offense. Brent Dahl had 13 and Keith Marshall 11.

The Mundelein fans who attended both the Fenton win and the loss at Zion-Benton had a chance to see the Mustangs play at their extremes.

"As well as we played Friday, we

Corsairs looking for comeback

No doubt about it. It's time for the Carmel Corsairs to get back to the drawing board.

Carmel came into last week's games riding high on a five-game winning streak and a double overtime home win. But how cruel fate can be.

Now the Corsairs, after losses to St. Patrick and Deerfield, find themselves in a must-win situation when they travel to St. Viator Feb. 5 and host Marist Feb. 6 in East Suburban Catholic Conference action.

"We must come out with at least a split," Carmel Coach Scott Rosberg said of the two games, both with 7:30 p.m. starts.

Revenge will be one factor for the Corsairs as they lost to both St. Viator and Marist in the first round.

"We certainly expect this to be the toughest weekend we've had all year," Rosberg said.

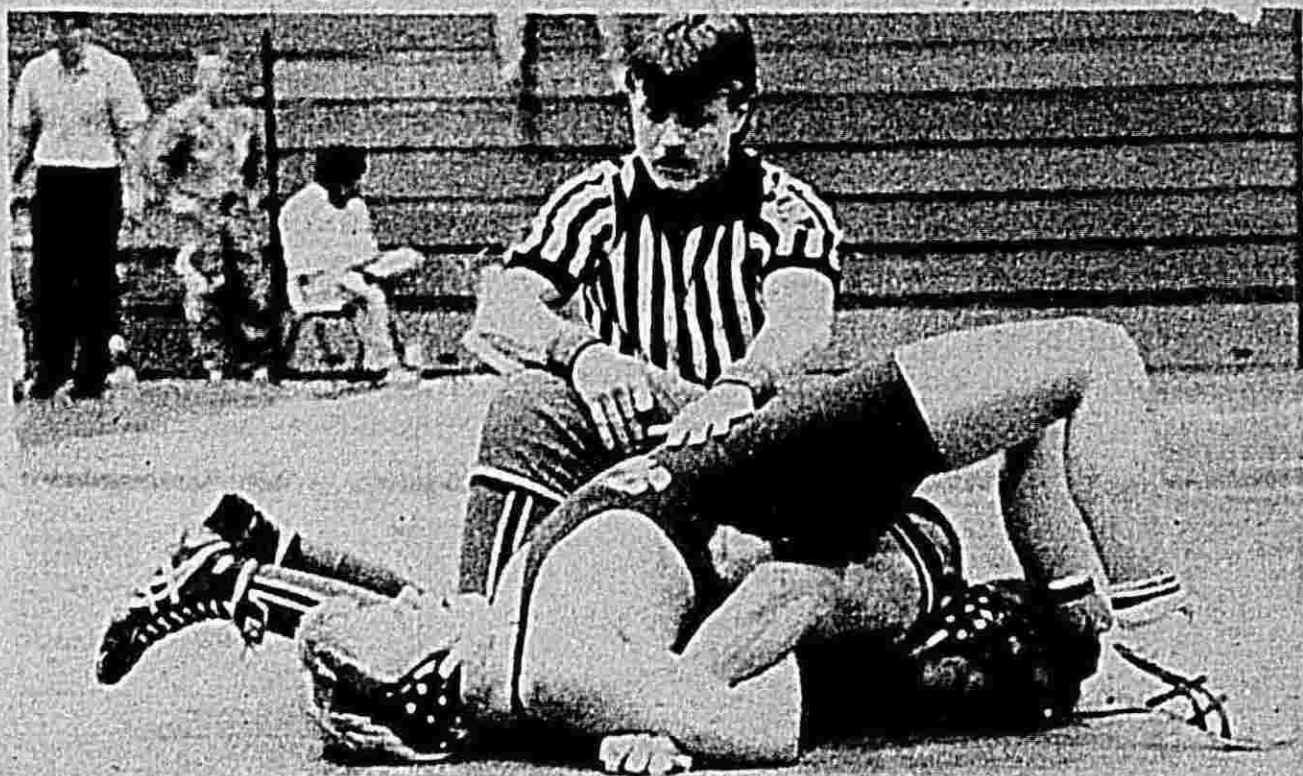

The Corsairs fell victim to poor starts in both a 57-51 loss to St. Patrick and a 60-53 non-conference defeat at the hands of Deerfield. The losses dropped Carmel out of the running for first place in the ESCC race with a 5-4 record, 12-7 overall.

"We had a tendency to not get off to a good start. It's very important that we get off to a good start," Rosberg said.

Against St. Patrick, Carmel led 11-10 after one and trailed 24-22 at intermission. But the Shamrocks dominated the third quarter 20-12 and that was enough to offset a fourth-quarter Carmel rally.

Scott Stahoviak scored 17 points for the Corsairs but no teammate tallied in double figures.

Against Deerfield, the Corsairs fell victim to a tenacious Deerfield defense which kept Carmel from getting the ball inside.

Entangled wrestlers

Round Lake zaps Marengo, but loses non-league contest

Round Lake's basketball team solidified its hold on first place in the Northwest Suburban Conference but learned a lesson in the importance of non-conference games last week.

The Panthers beat Marengo 62-49 to mark their second triumph over the Indians this year. The next night, though, Round Lake traveled to Glenview but lost 65-50 to Glenbrook South. "The made a couple of surges in the second half, but we played them tough," Round Lake coach Bob Ward said.

The Panthers enjoyed a strong start at Marengo, winning the first quarter 13-6 and leading at halftime 18-12. Marengo played Round Lake even for the second half.

Marengo had given Round Lake fits in the two teams' meeting before losing 55-54 at Round Lake. The win improved Round Lake's NWSC record to 7-1 before this week.

Round Lake benefited from sharp free-throw shooting throughout the game, but in the second half in particular. The Panthers outscored Marengo 18-8 from the charity stripe, 17-for-25 in the final quarter. Tim Dunn, who led Round Lake with 19 points.

Center of attention

Lake Zurich breaks its losing streak

One thing was certain before Friday's Wauconda-Lake Zurich basketball game.

One streak will be broken.

In the end, it was Lake Zurich's 1988 loss streak which was ended with a 60-48 victory. Wauconda's streak was extended to 14 games this season, 34 overall.

The Bears used a 16-6 second-quarter run to record the win, which improved their record to 2-5 in the NWSC and 5-12 overall.

Wauconda led 12-11 after one but Lake Zurich's spree gave the host Bears a 27-18 half-time lead. Wauconda played the Bears close in the second half, but the damage was done.

Phil Rathke and Chris Engelhardt came off the bench to spark Lake Zurich.

Chuck Cermak led Wauconda with 12 points. Earlier, the Bulldogs played well for three quarters before losing to Cary-Grove 47-37. The visitors gained a nine-point lead in the final stanza. A three-point shot by Mike Jordan gave Cary an 11-point lead with just under two minutes to play.

The Trojans led 9-6 after one but the Bulldogs won the second stanza 7-6. The two teams scored 10 points in the third stanza before Cary-Grove dominated the final quarter 22-14.

Chuck Cermak scored 12 points to lead Wauconda.

Wauconda coach Charles Walsh was disappointed with his team's showing in a 56-35 loss to Rochelle.

"It was just a flat effort," Walsh said.

Rochelle used a pressing defense to force Wauconda into turnovers in the first quarter and took a 13-7 lead after one.

A baseline jumper by Gary Discher and two-three point shots by Cermak closed the gap to 19-16 in the second quarter.

Help Defeat Breast Cancer

Bring a friend and we'll examine and diagnose both of you for just $85⁰⁰ per couple

STATISTICS DON'T MATTER TO A BREAST CANCER VICTIM!

Ever talk to, or hear about, a woman who had just discovered a sudden, unexplainable growth in her breast that wasn't there last month? Statistics don't matter to a loved one, friend, neighbor or co-worker who has breast cancer.

What does matter is that almost all breast cancer CAN be defeated or prevented thru early detection. That's where we come in.

At the Robert R. McCormick University Clinics on the nearby campus of the University of Health Sciences/ Chicago Medical School we have the newest state-of-the-art mammography equipment and a Breast Care Center that's second to none...anywhere. Our equipment can alert you to potential danger before you are aware of it.

In fact, we're so convinced of the excellence of our program that we invite YOU to BRING A FRIEND OR LOVED ONE with you...and we'll examine and diagnose BOTH OF YOU at a special introductory rate of $85⁰⁰ PER COUPLE! Our hours are convenient and flexible. Our physicians are members of the clinical faculty here! We've got the knowhow. But we can't do it without your help. We know you're out there, yet you have to make the first call. We'll do the rest. THE NUMBER IS: 473-HELP. Call it NOW.

(Individuals are $45.00. If you wish we can pair you up with another person for the group rate.)

If you are interested in eliminating breast cancer...do it today! To schedule a mammogram on our new equipment ask your physician for a referral or call directly to 473-HELP. And bring a friend!

Our mammography equipment is state of the art. Free diagnosis is also provided.

We are an ACS approved mammography site.

Loose ball scramble

Johnsburg's Lisa Davidson finds herself on floor in scramble for rebound against Round Lake as players from both teams await result. Round Lake won Northwest Suburban Conference game handily, 60-37. Round Lake is at Grant and Johnsburg is at McHenry in regional action next week.

CLC women break loss streak

College of Lake County's women's basketball team ended one streak but found out why neighboring McHenry County College is vying for the Skyway Conference title last week.

The Lancers registered their first win at Sugar Grove against Waubensee as CLC beat the Chiefs 58-44. They then fell to McHenry 85-31.

In the game against Waubensee, Warren High grad Wendy Christina scored 26 points on 10 field goals and had three three-point shots to pace Lake County. Karen Whalen scored 10 points for the winners.

The visitors led 30-20 at halftime and maintained that lead in the second half.

Against McHenry, the Lancers quickly fell behind 20-2 and the Scots never looked back. McHenry led 42-14 at halftime.

CLC was outscored 8-2 for the first three minutes of the second half.

Former coach Chuck Schramm was on the sidelines, temporarily replacing Kyle.

"It was fun. They played hard and hustled," Schramm said.

Although the loss was a lopsided one, it was better than the first time CLC and MCC met. That time, McHenry scored more than 100 points against the Lancers.

Christina led CLC's offense with nine points, Lisa Gowe had eight and Laura Foster seven.

Grant's strong third quarter gives edge on Grayslake

It is a lesson basketball coaches learn early on in their careers.

"The first three minutes of the third quarter are critical. We were ahead by seven at halftime and we could have either let them back into it or taken charge. That was important," Grant coach Tom Maple said after his team disposed of Grayslake 71-58.

The Bulldogs led 28-21 at halftime in a game featuring the two teams battling for second place in the Northwest Suburban Conference. Sparked by baskets from Tony Culotta, Ken Rasbid and Kip Paul, Grant quickly extended its lead to 11 points. A 15-footer by Rasbid gave the Bulldogs a 40-29 lead with 3:43 left in the quarter. Three straight free throws and a Culotta hoop gave Grant a 47-29 advantage going into the final quarter.

The Bulldogs used their strength in rebounding to outmuscle the Rams in the Ingleside school's 'Pack The Place' game. Grant outrebounded Grayslake 33-20 with John Wilhelm and Culotta each bringing down eight rebounds.

Defensively, the Bulldogs held

Grayslake's leading scorer, Timm West, to just eight points. Pete Lupori was Grayslake's lone scorer in double figures with 13.

"Credit the man-to-man with that. Jim McGeever was on him in the first half and Dave Sparks in the second half," Maplesaid.

Offensively, the Bulldogs enjoyed a balanced attack.

Stevenson looking to bounce back against Vikings, Mustangs

Stevenson coach George Katich had good reason to be optimistic before last week's games.

The Patriots were coming off an upset of first-place Zion-Benton and were looking to reach the .500 mark overall. But, as the saying goes, the best laid plans of mice and basketball coaches often go astray. After losing to both Antioch and Warren, the Patriots are regrouping for a Feb. 5 game at Niles North and a home game against Mundelein Feb. 6.

"We have to win these," Stevenson coach George Katich said. The losses, 56-53 to Antioch and 60-52 to Warren, left Stevenson with a 5-6 league mark and 7-11 overall.

"Antioch was the game we had to have," Katich said.

The Pats led as late as :50 left when Cleveland Tyson put them ahead. But Matt Pelland scored two points at the oher end for Antioch and the Sequoits made their free throws.

The Pats' trailed 8-5 after one, 24-16 at halftime and 40-27 after three. Stevenson out-scored Antioch 26-16 in the fourth quarter, but the rally fell short.

Tyson had 15 to lead Stevenson and Keith Marshall had 11.

Warren 60, Stevenson 52:

The Blue Devils used a tenacious inside attack to wear down Stevenson in Gurnee.

"Their inside game just killed us," Katich said.

The coach said Warren's hot gym affected his team negatively. "We were worn out. They had a big advantage," Katich said.

Stevenson trailed just 22-19 in the opening minute of the second half. But Warren then went on a 12-1 run to open up a 14-point bulge.

Matt Lingenfelter led Warren with 16 points. Stevenson was led by Jim Neary's 12 points.

Stevenson 66, Zion-Benton 58:

"I was real worried about how we were going to match up," he said.

Not to worry, coach.

"The big key was the job we did on Matt Krapf and Greg Green. J. T. Kellock started for the first time and did a good job on Green and Cleveland Tyson did a good job on Krapf," Katich said. Krapf was held to just nine points and Green scored just three.

The Patriots were led by Tyson's 17 points. Neary had 14, Kellock 13 and Anderson 10.

Stevenson jumped off to a good start against the Zee-Bees, leading 16-11 after one quarter. Stevenson upped its lead to 12 points in the fourth quarter before Zion-Benton made a run, cutting the margin to five.

The Patriots, though, made key free throws. For the game, Stevenson was 22-for-26, 84.6 percent. Zion-Benton made half of theirs, five of 10.

"We really hit those free throws," Katich said.

Wauconda wins looks to meet

Wauconda does have a champion.

The Bulldogs' gymnastics team got some strong momentum for the Feb. 6 regional meet at Lake Forest by winning the four-team Northwest Suburban Conference meet at Grant.

Wauconda handily won the title with 119.15 points. The battle was for second place and Lake Zurich edged Grant 105.9 - 104.75.

ATTACK HEART DISEASE BEFORE IT ATTACKS YOU.

Many people don't know they have heart disease until they have a heart attack.

During winter, cold temperatures
constrict arteries which carry blood to the heart, making the heart work harder. Combined with the physical stress of shoveling snow, the possibility of heart attack increases.

A Cardiac Risk Profile may help you prevent a heart attack. The Profile includes a thorough physical examination by one of our doctors, an EKG (electrocardiogram) which measures the action of the heart muscle, and an SMA 24, a blood test which measures cholesterol, triglycerides and other blood components.

Based on the results from your examination and tests, our doctors will recommend a plan to help reduce your risk for heart disease. The Profile is available now through March 30 for only $49.
